Letters

Food in the library
To the Editor:

I read with interest the article entitled "No food, no drink, no noise" (February 1994) and I was amused by the author’s innovative signs such as "Ravenous Roaches Ravage Rootbeer and Rare Books."

Two years ago our library dropped its "no drink" policy and began allowing drinks in any kind of covered container. We also eased our "no food" policy, prohibiting only messy, smelly foods such as pizzas or hamburgers and fries, etc. We have even gone as far as to establish an annual Christmas party in the library. The library provides the drinks, cookies, snacks, and loud Christmas music. The students LOVE it!

In two years I have yet to see a roach in our library. In fact, I have detected no major spills, wet books, water rings, or any of the other nightmares librarians have about allowing food and drink in the library.

In my judgment, this is a customer service issue. I want to do everything reasonable to make our students feel good about libraries. Allowing food and drinks has been a reasonable concession and, I believe, it has had very positive repercussions.—Dennis Ingolfsland, Bryan College

More women’s studies resources on the Net...
To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Mary Glazier’s article, “Internet resources for women’s studies” (March 1994). I have been doing research on women’s studies and the Internet and was very glad to see such attention given to women’s studies.

However, I would like to call your attention to an oversight in that article: since there are no databases/CD-ROMs dedicated to women’s studies, and others may include only some women’s studies journals, a database which includes almost all (over 80) such journals is CARL UnCover. CARL UnCover is available through the Internet by telnetting to uncover.carl.org. Also, a list I compiled of the women’s studies-related journals on CARL UnCover and some search tips are available on the University of Maryland gopher. Telnet to inform.umd.edu, then choose 4. Educational Resources, 17. Women’s studies, 11. Resources, then 6. Using CARL UnCover.

Access to women’s studies information is a major concern of all librarians because women’s studies has been integrated into all subjects, in particular literature, sociology, and psychology. CARL UnCover is a great resource for women’s studies information.—Jill Morrissey, University of Connecticut

... and another
To the Editor:

As a women’s studies librarian, I was very pleased to see Mary Glazier’s article in the March 1994 issue of C&RL News.

I must point out, however, that Glazier makes an unfortunate omission by neglecting to mention the Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America in her section on OPACs.

The Schlesinger Library is one of the largest and best-known women’s history libraries in the world. All of our holdings, including 50,000 books and 2,000 manuscript collections, are listed on Harvard’s online catalog, HOLLIS. To access HOLLIS, telnet to HOLLIS.HARVARD.EDU. Press return for vt100 terminals, or enter in another type. Select HOLLIS from the next menu. Our holdings are included in the HU database.—Wendy Thomas, Radcliffe College

(Internet cont. from page 257)

• The National Distance Learning Center Clearinghouse at Owensboro Community College in Kentucky.

• The Centre for Distance Education at Athabasca University is creating a database of e-mail addresses of adult and distance education researchers in an effort to provide information and connections.

• At the University of Washington, IBM and the university maintain a Bulletin Board Service for educators which contains a conference on DE. It may be reached by telnet to isaac.engr.washington.edu or 128.95.32.61. This service requires registration.
Now you can have the best of both worlds. Literally.

With EBSCO you can work with our regional office in your area to ensure convenience, timeliness and efficiency in your day-to-day subscription transactions. And you can count on our other offices located near the places most journals are published to assist in obtaining full service for your subscriptions. In most cases, you may not even be aware that EBSCO staff from a remote location are working for you as well as your local office. Our 17 non-North American offices throughout the world can help serve your needs for non-domestic serials, no matter where they originate. Plus, by using one capable serials vendor for all your titles, you benefit through increased internal efficiency and more valuable serials management reports.

Subscribe globally. Order locally. With EBSCO.

EBSCO
SUBSCRIPTION SERVICES

International Headquarters
P.O. Box 1943 • Birmingham, AL 35201-1943
(205)991-6600 • Fax (205)995-1636

EBSCO operates nine offices in the U.S. and two in Canada. Other offices located in: Australia, Brazil, Czech Republic, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Korea, The Netherlands, New Zealand, South Africa, Spain, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey and the United Kingdom.
Publication Manual
of the American Psychological Association, 4th ed.

With over 1.8 million copies of the third edition sold, the Publication Manual is the style manual most used by writers and students in psychology, the other behavioral and social sciences, nursing, criminology, and personnel areas. The fourth edition of the Publication Manual contains new sections, including:

- Additional guidelines to reduce bias in language;
- Expanded instructions for presenting statistical information;
- Referencing that includes electronic media and legal materials;
- Updated information on preparing manuscripts with a word processor, and
- General policies and ethics of scientific publication;
- and more!

The Publication Manual gives you all the information you need about the process of publication from organizing, writing, keying, and submitting your manuscript to seeing the accepted manuscript through production and publication. Plus, this fourth edition raises your awareness of publishing ethics issues and accurate, sensitive word choices in describing persons. Order your copy of this essential resource today! Available June 1994. Approximately 340 pages.

Contents: Quality of Content: Characteristics of Authorship and Articles; Parts of a Manuscript; Quality of Presentation; Writing Style; Grammar; Guidelines to Reduce Bias in Language; Publication: Spelling; Capitalization; Italics; Abbreviations; Headings and Series; Quotations; Numbers; Metrication; Statistical and Mathematical Copy; Tables; Figures; Footnotes and Notes; Reference Citations in Text; Reference List; References to Legal Materials; Preparing the Word-Processing File for Editing and Typesetting; Instructions for Tying the Parts of a Manuscript; Transmitting the Accepted Manuscript for Production; Reviewing the Copy; Edited Manuscript; Proofreading; After the Article Is Published; Policies Governing the Journals; Editorial Management of Manuscripts; The APA Journals; Journal-Related Periodicals.

Softcover
APA Members/Affiliates & List Price: $19.95

Hardcover
APA Members/Affiliates: $23.95; List Price: $29.95

Orders from the United Kingdom, Europe, Africa, or the Middle East should be sent to: American Psychological Association, 3 Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, London, WC2E 8LU, England. Call 071-240-0856. Free Phone 0-800-526-830 (U.K. only). Fax 071-379-0609.

All other orders should be sent to: American Psychological Association, Book Order Dept, PO Box 2710, Hyattsville, MD 20784-0710, USA. Or call 1-800-374-7721 (in DC 202-336-5510) and use your VISA or MasterCard. TDD/TTY 202-336-6123. Fax 202-336-5502.

All orders must be prepaid unless accompanied by an Institutional Purchase Order. Allow 2-4 weeks for UPS delivery (UPS can not deliver to a PO Box). Shipping & Handling/Postage & Packing: $3.50 US/45¢ Non-US.