Students and faculty using libraries less
A recent survey of 3,200 students and faculty by the Digital Library Federation and Outsell, Inc. found that “more than one-third of the respondents overall and half of those in fields such as business and engineering now use the library less than they did just two years ago.”

Hyperlinks half-life approximately 55 months
After a period of 20 months, 18.8% of the total nonredundant URLs used in three online biochemistry courses are extinct. Of the 515 total URLs, 18.4% of 234 “.edu” domain links are broken, 42.5% of 73 “.com” links, and 11.7% of 60 “.org” links. The researchers “estimate a half-life for these science education hyperlinks of approximately 55 months.”

Research libraries develop Web portals
At least six of 77 ARL Libraries responding to a survey in February 2002 reported having library portals, which provide 1) search engine tools that offer the user the capability to search across multiple sources and integrate the results of those searches, and 2) at least one kind of supporting service for the user (such as requesting retrieval or delivery of non-digital material, online reference help, etc.). Eight other respondents expect to have such a portal operational within the year and “over half of them are in the planning process.”

Median salaries for directors of library services at all higher education institutions increased 5.9% from $63,228 in 2000–01 to $66,990 in 2001–02. Median salaries for acquisitions librarians increased to $46,169, chief technical-services librarians to $47,563, and chief public-services librarians to $48,998.

Library staff-to-student ratio increases
The latest edition of the Department of Education’s Digest of Education Statistics reports a rise in the library staff-to-student ratio in college and university libraries from 137 students per staff member in 1987–88 to 150 students per staff member in 1997–98. During the same period, library operating expenditures per student rose in constant dollars from $419 to $450.

20,000 titles in Internet Public Library
The Internet Public Library Online Texts Collection provides access to more than 20,000 full-text titles by author, title, or Dewey Decimal Classification.

Ann Viles is coordinator of reference and instruction at Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina, e-mail: vilesea@conrad.appstate.edu
Join us in the celebration of a historical milestone and the continued tradition of excellence with ACS Publications. Hear the latest advances on our ACS Web Editions and exciting news on the following:

ACS JOURNAL ARCHIVES
More than 11,000 ACS journal issues, 500,000 articles, and 2.5 million pages of original chemistry of the most cited, most essential research articles.

THE JOURNAL OF PROTEOME RESEARCH
Our newest addition to our family of high quality and high impact chemistry publishes original research papers, communications, technical notes, perspectives, and reviews showcasing the advancement of understanding of protein chemistry.

ACS PUBLICATIONS
HIGH QUALITY. HIGH IMPACT.
http://pubs.acs.org

Plus: Pick up a commemorative ACS Journal Archives timeline poster featuring over a century of essential chemistry!
Content you can trust.

Westlaw Campus, designed by West Group, the leading provider of legal information since 1876, is the new online legal research tool created specifically for undergraduate and graduate students who need to research law-related issues. Whether the field of study is criminal justice, political science, business, or economics, Westlaw Campus is the essential resource.

Exclusive editorial enhancements make the law easier to comprehend.

Only Westlaw Campus includes editorial enhancements such as synopses and headnotes, all written to clarify your students' understanding of the law.

Simple search options.

Students can search cases, statutes and regulations, by citation, by title or search by issue using Natural Language or Terms and Connectors. Students can research effectively with little or no instruction or assistance.

Unlimited researching.

No matter how many students access the service, no matter for what length of time, there are no budget-busting, per minute, per student fees that can change from month to month. Online fees are fixed and the lowest in the industry. Plus there are no distracting ads because Westlaw Campus is advertising-free – just great legal research, all the time.