The University of Rochester has received a gift of approximately $500,000 from alum­nus Roger B. Friedlander to renovate the Welles-Brown Room and the main lobby of the Rush Rhees Library. A prominent member of the Rochester business community, Friedlander was concerned that the room and lobby had lost their original feeling of elegance and comfort. The renovation of the room will include: replacement of the furnish­ings, installation of new lighting and electrical work, as well as a sound amplification system, improved back lighting for the stained glass window, and restaining the walls. Renovations to the main lobby will remove the turnstile barriers, install a new state-of-the-art security system, clean the brass chandelier and stone walls, and improve wall display cases.

The Library of Congress National Digital Library (NDL) Program has received a $3.5 million grant from AT&T. A portion of the grant will go toward digitizing materials from the Library of Congress’s collections of Alexander Graham Bell and Samuel F. B. Morse, including Bell’s sketch of the first telephone and Morse’s first telegraphic message. The goal of the NDL Program is to make freely available over the Internet millions of items by the year 2000, in collabora­tion with other institutions. This site can be accessed at http://www.loc.gov/.

Rider University has received a $40,025 grant from the New York Community Trust-John Robert Gregg Fund for the pres­ervation of the Louis A. Leslie collection of shorthand materials. In 1983, the late Leslie, an authority on shorthand, bequeathed the collection of shorthand materials from around the world. The collection contains every shorthand system invented and hun­dreds of systems that were unsuccessful but influenced later authors. The Leslie Collection includes books inscribed in shorthand by such shorthand authors as Sir Isaac Pit­man and John Robert Gregg, as well as com­plete files of shorthand periodicals and shorthand books in European languages, Hebrew, Chinese, and Japanese. Less common lan­guages such as Tagalog, Thai, and Erse are also represented. The collection also includes letters that Civil War soldiers wrote in shorthand to magazine editors and to their wives or girlfriends, shorthand renditions of the Bible, and various well-known works of liter­ature.

The Friends of the Detroit Public Library, acting on behalf of DALNET, the Detroit Area Library Network, received a grant for $100,000 from Ameritech to fund a two-phase project to promote public awareness of and to provide end user training for the new Southeast Michigan Information Hub. Once it is fully developed, the hub will serve people throughout the 17-county Detroit re­gional area in their educational, cultural, research, professional, and recreational en­deavors. It will enable DALNET libraries to reach beyond the walls of the library and deliver text, images, sound, and video to the desktop level and eventually to public kiosks.

The National Gallery of Prague has been awarded a grant of $180,000 from the Getty Grant Program to support the MicroGallery, featuring 2,000 digitized images of works of art from the National Gallery’s permanent collections. Upon its completion in 2000-01, the MicroGallery, an interactive com­puter information system, will allow Na­tional Gallery visitors access to art images accompanied by extensive information through touch-screen monitors, with text in Czech and English. The program will be available in all permanent exhibitions of the National Gallery.

Ed. note: Send your news to: Grants & Acquisitions, C&RL News, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611-2795; e-mail: ayoung@ala.org.
The University of Michigan (UM) Library has received a grant of $430,000 from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to expand UM's "Making of America" project. Known as "The American Voice, 1850–1876," this conversion effort will expand the online collections and tools developed during the original "Making of America" project and will seek to establish benchmarks and guidelines for the digital preservation of materials. The primary purpose of this effort will be to produce a handbook for the Mellon Foundation and the library community that documents a model of accomplishing both preservation and access. Over 7,500 monographs will be converted and added to the current "Making of America" online collection of 19th-century American journal articles and monographs. Directed by Maria Bonn, The American Voice will draw upon the preservation, system development, interface design, and digital conversion expertise of the UM Library. The foundation collection for this project can be found at www.umdl.umich.edu/moa/.

Acquisitions

Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning’s last poems have been acquired by Baylor University (BU) in Waco, Texas. A six-line manuscript, a rendering of an "Inscription on an Ancient Sundial at Newquay, Cornwall," appears to be the last poem written by Browning. It is a meditation on the transience of life and presence of death—a close parallel to the "Epilogue" of Asolando, which has always been accepted as his farewell poem. A fair copy of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's last poem, "The North and the South," was signed and dated "Rome. May 1861," just one month before her death. It was written in honor of Hans Christian Andersen, Danish author of popular children's stories. These poems were acquired through donations by the Guardian Angels, the friends' group for the library.

Also featured at the Armstrong Browning Library is the McLean Foyer of Meditation, which was created to inspire great thoughts and to memorialize the life of Robert Browning. Golden Jubilee events will take place in 2001 to celebrate the construction of the building and to showcase the collection of research materials founded by A. J. Armstrong in 1918.

The Pearl Herlihy Daniels Historical Map Collection has been received as a gift by the University of Delaware from her sons—Thomas Herlihy III and the Honorable Jerome O. Herlihy. The collection contains more than 100 historic maps, many of which depict Delaware and the surrounding region at various points in history. Also included in the collection are more than 80 reproductions of historic maps, original artwork and reproductions of Delaware scenes by Jack Lewis, Robert Shaw, and other artists, and a collection of map reference books. Several boxes of Daniels's papers accompany the collection, including correspondence, typescripts, and notes of articles and lectures, newspaper clippings, magazine articles, and miscellaneous materials. Daniels, who died December 1994, was an avid collector of historical maps, particularly maps depicting Delaware and adjacent areas.

Papers of former U.S. Congressman Eligio (Kika) de la Garza from South Texas were acquired by the University of Texas Pan-American. The university received 717 boxes of archival materials, 588 of which were forwarded from the donor's congressional office in Washington, D.C. and 129 of which were forwarded from his office in McAllen, Texas. The materials included in these boxes are legislative documents, political campaign documents, constituent inquiries and requests, photographs, maps, trophies, plaques, and awards.
At Last—Granger's® Online

Since the beginning of the 20th century, Granger's® has been the preeminent printed index of poems in anthologies in English. Granger's® is now online, with the addition of thousands of poems in full text, was first published in 1898 as The Columbia Granger's® World of Poetry Online, this extensive anthology and index is even bigger, better, and easier to use. The site will be updated quarterly.

www.columbiagrangers.org

The Columbia Granger's® World of Poetry Online
Edited by William Harmon

Since 1904, Granger's® has been a trusted index to the world's best-loved poetry. Today, Granger's® Online is the most dynamic teaching, learning, and research resource for poetry. With study-tip forums and accessibility to William Harmon, editor, author, anthologist, and award-winning poet, it has the interactivity college students want.

Features:

- 250,000 poem citations—from 1,000 anthologies and 290 volumes of collected and selected works
- Search by title, first line, last line, subject, author, author category (Asian American, Irish, etc.), and keyword
- Full text of 13,000 poems, which appear at a click, to be read on screen, printed, or downloaded
- 7,500 quotations from great poems, which can be read on-screen, printed, or downloaded
- Commentaries, biographies, glossary, bibliographies
- 700 anthologies described and evaluated
- Library call-number customizing
- Quarterly updates

Also New This May

The Columbia Granger's® World of Poetry CD-ROM 3.0

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS

Columbia.edu/cu/cup 800-944-8648 914-591-9111