Classified Advertising

NOTICE

Respondents to advertisers offering faculty "rank" and "status" are advised that these terms are ambiguous and should inquire as to benefits involved.

All advertisements for the "Positions Wanted" and the "Positions Open" classifications will be edited to exclude direct or indirect references to race, creed, color, age, and sex as conditions of employment. The American Library Association requires a salary range for all "Positions Open."

Classified advertising orders and copy, and cancellations, should be addressed to the Association of College and Research Libraries, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611, and should reach that office before the second of the month preceding publication of issue desired. Copy received after that time may be held for the next issue. To insure that readers have sufficient lead time to respond to "Positions Open," advertisers must list closing dates no sooner than the end of the month of publication. Telephone orders for classified advertising, while not encouraged because of the increased risk of copy error, will be accepted. Calls should be directed to the ACRL office at (312) 944-6780. A confirming order should be mailed to ACRL as soon as possible following the call along with typewritten copy to be used in proofreading the ad.

Rate for classified advertising is $1.80 per printed line to ACRL members, $2.25 per printed line to non-ACRL members. Individuals who advertise on behalf of organizations will be charged according to the organization's membership status.

Reading and the Adult New Reader

Helen Huguenor Lyman

A reliable guide for librarians, teachers, editors, library science professors, and students who are involved in the evaluation, uses, and creation of materials for adult new readers. The focus is on the readability of materials in collections for such readers; it organizes the theories of readability for practical application as well as describing the reading interests of minority group members.

Lyman’s method of identifying works suitable for adult new readers extends the relevance of this book to the entire field of adult education. Major topics that are discussed include reading services; trends in society; beliefs, attitudes and values affecting readers and reader groups; reading collections for the adult reader; evaluation of reading materials; and implications of these topics and factors for library service. This work points out a direction for bringing the adult reader and library resources together.

Library Materials in Service to the Adult New Reader

Helen Huguenor Lyman

Published here as a comprehensive report, from the background of the research through to the principal recommendations, this volume not only establishes criteria for evaluating reading materials, but also provides a multitude of information about the new literate and their use of the media. This study will guide librarians, community workers, teachers, publishers, and editors in both creating and selecting literature for these newcomers to the reading public.

Information for the Community

Joseph C. Donohue and Manfred Kochen, editors

This book is the first comprehensive treatment of community information and referral (I & R) centers—those agencies that act as contact points between people with problems and the services that are needed to help with these problems. It analyzes the needs that gave rise to the many organizations now providing I & R services, and describes some approaches that have succeeded and some that have failed.

Information for Everyday Survival: What You Need and Where to Get It

Priscilla Gotsick of the Appalachian Adult Education Center

Presents an annotated list of free and inexpensive materials arranged under such basic categories as aging, children, free time, and housing. Some sample subheadings are abortion, getting a job, personal finance, and remodeling a home. Titles, descriptions, and sources of each item are arranged in a tabular format to facilitate identification. The titles were selected for readability, and the reliance on booklets keeps purchasing costs low.

Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules

SECOND EDITION

Michael Gorman and Paul W. Winkler, editors

A joint publication of the American Library Association, the Canadian Library Association, and the Library Association

On its first publication in 1967, Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules was greeted as "the best Code we have, or are likely to have," and was soon adopted by libraries around the world.

The second edition of AACR consolidates the achievements of the first and builds on them to meet the challenges of development and change. In an intensive three-year project, two distinguished editors and an international Joint Steering Committee—on which the national library associations and national library services of the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom were all represented—have produced a revision that harmonizes the two differing texts of the first edition. AACR 2 incorporates the latest international standards, makes provision for the whole range of new materials and media now in our library collections, and takes notice of the impact of machine-readable cataloguing and bibliographic systems. There are adjustments to the text and presentation that nation-wide reviews by AACR users have shown to be essential.

One innovation is of particular importance: the rules for Description are presented in an integrated structure that provides a uniform basis for recording not only every known category of print and nonprint material, but those still unknown and uninvented. AACR 2 can be the Code to take cataloguing into the twenty-first century. Order your copies now!
