ACRL seeks nominees for office

Would you like to serve on the ACRL Board of Directors as vice-president/president-elect or seek office in an ACRL section? Would you like to nominate anyone else for one of these positions? If the answer is yes, here is what you need to do.

ACRL Board of Directors
The ACRL Appointments and Nominations Committee will be nominating candidates for ACRL vice-president/president-elect. The election will be held in the spring of 1995 and the winners will hold office beginning in the summer of 1995. If you wish to be considered for nomination or if you would like to submit names for consideration, contact the chair of the committee: Suzanne H. Calpestri, Head, Cooperative Services, University of California-Berkeley, University Library, Room 386, Berkeley, CA 94720; fax: (510) 642-9293; e-mail: scalpest@library.berkeley.edu, prior to the ALA Annual Conference in Miami this June.

ACRL section officers
Candidates for vice-chair/chair-elect of ACRL sections are selected by the Nominating Committee of each section. If you would like to nominate someone or be nominated for vice-chair/chair-elect of an ACRL section, contact the chair of the Nominating Committee for the appropriate section prior to the ALA Annual Conference in Miami. Other section officers, including secretary and member-at-large, may also be under consideration for this term of office, which will begin in the summer of 1995.

there is no treatment applicable to all types of paper and compatible with all the constituents of a book. No process seems adequate for strengthening already fragile, aged papers. Appendices provide information on methods for testing paper characteristics, artificial aging, pH measurement, companies marketing mass decalcification processes, the Montreal protocol on regulation of CFCs, and a comparative table of processes. Public Libraries: Travel Treasures of the West, by Marty and Anna Rabkin (332 pages, November 1993), is a travel guide to hundreds of public libraries in the western states. The authors have visited every one, so their descriptions of the architecture, collections, and surrounding scenery are authentic. Libraries that are architecturally, historically, or scenically outstanding are identified (such as the Apache Junction (Ariz.) Public Library, with its spectacular view of the Superstition Mountains). The book includes some 90 black-and-white photographs (including Booker, the cat at Seattle's Rainer Beach Branch Library) and credits the architectural firms that helped expand and update old libraries. Addresses, phone numbers, and open days are provided for the library tourist. Copies are $19.95 from North American Press, 350 Indiana St., Suite 350, Golden, CO 80401-5093. ISBN 1-55591-915-4.

Rethinking Reference in Academic Libraries, edited by Anne Grodzins Lipow (242 pages, November 1993), contains the papers presented at the Library Solutions Institute No. 2 in March and June 1993 at UC-Berkeley and Duke University that focused on the future of reference services. It details the new models of reference that emerged there, as well as ideas for practical steps for implementing them. Contributors include Larry Oberg on new roles for support staff and Jim Rettig on innovations in academic reference departments. The book also offers case studies on reference change at several universities. Finally, the organizers provide tips for replicating the institute in case readers wish to arrange a similar meeting. An appendix reprints selected documents from the institute packet, the pre-institute reading list, texts of some readings, and samples of participants' follow-up activities. A copy costs $32.00 from Library Solutions Press Sales Office, 1100 Industrial Road, Suite 9, San Carlos, CA 94070. ISBN 1-882208-02-1.

Videos for Understanding Diversity: A Core Collection and Evaluative Guide, by Gregory I. Stevens (217 pages, June 1993), is an expansion of the videography developed by the State University of New York at Albany to support its required course in human diversity. The detailed reviews examine 126 videos that offer a stimulating perspective on how diverse cultural groups have contributed to the social and historical development of the U.S. The listings range from feature films (Do the Right Thing, El Norte) to documentaries (Frida Kahlo, Ken Burns's The Civil War). Access is enhanced by a title-theme index and a category index. An excellent tool for undergraduate courses in the social sciences and humanities. Copies are available for $35.00 (ALA members $31.50) from the ALA Order Department, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611. ISBN 0-8389-0612-5.
