UNIVERSITY LIBRARIAN

The George Washington University invites applications and nominations for the position of University Librarian at the Gelman Library. The University seeks an individual who has demonstrated ability to lead the Gelman Library with a collaborative management style through the opportunities and challenges of the remaining part of the current millennium and into the twenty-first century.

The University Library collections are located in the Melvin Gelman Library (the general library of the University) and in the libraries of the National Law Center and the School of Medicine and Health Sciences. The Gelman Library employs 70 full-time and 42 part-time staff, and 31 librarians. Its collection includes approximately 1.2 million volumes and 9000 periodical subscriptions.

The University Librarian reports directly to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and has overall fiscal and administrative responsibility for the Gelman Library, the Northern Virginia Campus Library, and the Gelman Library Information Service. The Gelman Library operates in an environment of increasing demand for information in various formats, both through on-site use and off-site electronic requests. The University Librarian must be conversant with all facets of modern technologies associated with libraries of the future and cognizant of traditional services that will remain a major component of future libraries.

Qualifications for the position are a graduate degree in library or information science from an ALA accredited program; a minimum of three years of senior administrative experience in an academic or research library; experience with strategic planning, budget management, staff development, and fund raising; ability to communicate effectively; demonstrated understanding of the academic environment, in particular, the interrelated role of teaching and research; commitment to a service mission without compromising support for collections; and demonstrated familiarity with all facets of academic library functions. A distinguished record of professional involvement including, for example, association work, publication, and presentations is required. An additional advanced degree is desirable.

Screening of applications will begin on 1 May 1994 and continue until the position is filled. Please send a curriculum vitae and a letter of application that includes a description of your recent accomplishments in your current position, and a brief statement of your view of the future directions for university libraries in a research-oriented University. Please include the names, addresses, and phone numbers of at least three references. All materials should be sent to:

BIBLIOGRAPHER FOR MUSIC
The University of Chicago Library

The University of Chicago Library is seeking candidates for the position of Bibliographer for Music. The Music and Recordings Collection, of approximately 100,000 volumes and 15,000 recordings, supports the research and teaching programs of the faculty of the Department of Music, graduate students and the undergraduate curriculum. Collection development in music includes books about music and recordings of all types in the fields of Western musical history (European and American), ethnomusicology, and selected areas of non-Western music. Particular strengths of the music collection include the fields of Chopin research, J.S. Bach, the music of the Renaissance, musical biography, and the literature of Jazz. The Chicago Jazz Archive, consisting of sound recordings and sheet music relating to the history of Chicago Jazz, constitutes a unique research resource within the music collection.

The Bibliographer is responsible for developing and maintaining the library's collections, in all relevant formats, in the areas of music and the related music-based arts of opera, dance, and the musical theater. The Bibliographer also serves as the curator for the Chicago Jazz Archive. The Bibliographer provides specialized reference service and bibliographic instruction for faculty and students in the specialist areas, and advises technical services staff where appropriate on matters relating to the ordering and processing of materials. The Bibliographer also participates in committee work at the divisional, interdivisional, and academic department levels. Teaching opportunities based on subject specialty may also be negotiated with the Department of Music. The Bibliographer for Music reports to the Assistant Director for Collection Development and Public Services for Humanities and Social Sciences.

SPECIFIC RESPONSIBILITIES: Establish and communicate goals and objects for the music and related music-based arts collections and for the Chicago Jazz Archive. Serve as a primary channel for communications between the library and faculty and students in the assigned areas of responsibility. Ensure, through leadership, a service-oriented, efficient, and effective staff, and proper organization and maintenance of library equipment and facilities related to music. Develop a long-term acquisitions policy as well as an ongoing program for periodically reviewing it and evaluating the needs of the assigned collections. Maintain materials selection, preservation, serial monitoring, and gifts review activities on a current basis. Propose, justify, and manage assigned acquisitions and staff budgets. Work with the Library Development Office to identify and develop donor sources and special funding opportunities both for the music collections and the Chicago Jazz Archive. In addition to providing specialists reference service, offer general reader assistance to all patrons. Establish collaborative and cooperative working relationships with other Bibliographers. Participate as appropriate in the activities of library and scholarly organizations at the local, regional, and national levels. Submit a written annual report of collection development, public services, and professional activities to the Assistant Director for Collection Development and Public Services for Humanities and Social Sciences.

QUALIFICATIONS: Education: A graduate degree from an accredited library school and a graduate degree in Music, or a Ph.D. in Music, is required. Experience: Substantial experience in a research library relating to the field of music, with five or more years of appropriate experience highly desirable. Evidence of extensive specialist bibliographic and reference work in music is preferred. Skills: Candidates must be able to work effectively with faculty, students, and staff and possess excellent oral, written, and interpersonal communication skills. Knowledge of German, and French, Italian, or Latin is required.

SALARY AND BENEFITS: Appointment salary will be based on qualifications and experience. Salary range begins at $32,790 per year. Benefits include a contributory retirement plan, health and life insurance, 22 vacation days, 6 university holidays, 5 personal holidays, and sick leave. There is a tuition benefit plan for college-age and younger children.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Letter of application should include curriculum vitae and names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three references. Review of applications will begin May 15, 1994, and continue until the position is filled.

How Many Times a Day Do You Face These Requests?

- A student wants a book, but doesn't know the author — or the exact title.
- Another student writing a term paper wants to know what books the library has on the subject.
- A professor wants to obtain copyright permissions for preparing course materials.

Give your students — and faculty — the advantage students and faculty already enjoy at the University of Pittsburgh, Dartmouth, the University of Washington, and the University of Georgia. These schools put their scholars face to face with current and accurate answers, on screen, instantly from R.R. Bowker's Books in Print database — featuring over 1.5 million title and publisher entries!

From our mag tape directly to your electronic library on campus, Books in Print's comprehensive database blends into your system — giving you and your patrons a complete bibliography that encompasses your university's holdings as well as all in-print books. You'll instantly dispense with time-consuming and inefficient multiple-resource searches.

Using this one-stop database is simple and fast. Anyone can put together amazingly powerful searches by using a single word from a title ... the subject ...the publisher ...even an author's first name.

The advantages Pitt, Dartmouth, Washington, and Georgia are enjoying with Books in Print on Tape can easily be yours. Just call Arden Olson, Electronic Sales, 1-800-521-8110.

Our tape leasing services go far beyond Books in Print. Find out how you can access the full range of Bowker's databases, from serial bibliographies such as Ulrich's International Periodicals Directory, to biographical references like American Men and Women of Science and Who's Who in American Art.
