zetteers, and the National Cartographic Information Center. The workshop proceedings cost $10 for LILRC members, $15 for non-members (prepaid only), and may be ordered from LILRC, Melville Library Building, Suite E5310, Stony Brook, NY 11794-3399. ISBN 0-938435-00-0.

• Pilgrims and Pioneers: New England Women in the Arts, edited by Alicia Faxon and Sylvia Moore (February 1986), covers the work of New England women painters, sculptors, architects, and fabric artists of the past and present, and considers such topics as collage, landscape, issue-oriented art, interior space in the work of women artists, the art education of working women, and the economies of art survival for women. It also explores the contributions made by women architects, art collectors, and gallery owners. Eighteen artists, art historians, architects, curators, and critics have contributed essays to this volume. Copies may be ordered for $12 from Midmarch Arts Press, Box 3304, Grand Central Station, New York, NY 10163.

• The Rule of Experts: Occupational Licensing in America, by S. David Young (100 pages, March 1987), offers a careful analysis of occupational licensing and its effects, both intended and unintended, on the regulated professionals and the consumers they serve. Over 1,000 occupations are currently regulated by all or some of the 50 states, varying in intensity from registration to licensing. Young argues that licensing regulations exist primarily to enhance the economic position of the covered occupations. Copies may be ordered for $10.95 from the Cato Institute, 224 Second St., S.E., Washington, DC 20003; (202) 546-0200.

• The Secret War in Central America: Sandinista Assault on World Order, by John Norton Moore (195 pages, 1987), documents the extent of the Sandinista war since 1980 against El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Costa Rica. The author traces the Cuban connection in the Sandinista movement, the dramatic rise in Soviet military support, the militarization of Nicaraguan society, and its subversive attacks against nearby governments in Central America. Copies may be ordered for $17.95 from University Publications of America, 44 North Market St., Frederick, MD 21701. ISBN 0-89093-961-6.

• Wild and Exotic Mushroom Cultivation in North America: A Growers' and Gourmets' Guide to the New Edible Species, by Geraldine C. Kaye (59 pages, 2d ed., 1987), contains three times the number of listings of its 1984 predecessor. The book includes an annotated bibliography of works about mushrooms, lists of mycological associations and professional and amateur growers' groups, an alphabetical listing of mushroom-related businesses and organizations, and a subject index. Among the new references are three recently published mushroom cookbooks and an electronic bulletin board for mushroom news. Copies may be ordered for $6.75 from the Farlow Reference Library, Harvard University, 20 Divinity Ave., Cambridge, MA 02138.

• Women and Business Ownership: A Bibliography is a detailed survey of the literature on women in business, accompanied by specialized annotated bibliographies on characteristics of women business owners, financial access for women business owners, guides for home-based businesses, and other sub-topics. The volume lists monographs and journal articles, research reports, charts and tables, government reports, legal cases, and popular guides. The cost is $37.50. Order from the Minnesota Scholarly Press, P.O. Box 224, Mankato, MN 56001.
May

3—5—International Development: “Librarians and International Development,” a conference hosted by Washington State University Libraries, Pullman. Topics will include training of host country personnel, networking, automation, and project design, implementation and evaluation. Featured speakers will be Mohammed Aman (University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee SLIS) and Jean Kearns (Consortium for International Development Executive Office). Registration is limited to 100 participants. Contact: Mary Nofsinger, Holland Library, Washington State University, Pullman, WA 99164-5610; (509) 335-2691.

5—Cataloging: “Subject Cataloging: Issues, Trends, and Updates,” the Spring Workshop of the University of Iowa School of Library and Information Science, Rodeway Inn, Coralville, Iowa. Lois Mai Chan of the University of Kentucky College of Library and Information Science will be the principal speaker. Topics covered will include: controlled vocabulary, online and manual access, classification, and standardization and uniformity. Enrollment is limited to 50 participants. CEU: 0.5. Fee: $45 (includes lunch and refreshment breaks). Contact: Ethel Bloesch, School of Library and Information Science, University of Iowa, 3087 Library, Iowa City, IA 52242; (319) 335-5707.

27—29—Library Services: “Toward Holistic Library Service: Putting the Pieces Together,” the 1987 Midwest Academic Library Conference, Bone Student Center, Illinois State University, Normal. The conference is co-sponsored by ISU and Illinois Wesleyan University. Featured speakers include Evan Farber, Michael Gorman, JoAn Segal, Joe Price, Dana Smith, Betsy Baker, Linda Piele, Thomas Shaughnessy, and others. The Wednesday night banquet speaker will be Major Owens, New York State Congressman. Contact: Donna Goehner, Milner Library, Illinois State University, Normal, IL 61761; (309) 438-8691.

June

21—26—Theology: Annual Conference, American Theological Library Association, San Francisco. Contact: Simeon Daly, Saint Meinrad School of Theology, Archabbe SB Library, St. Meinrad, IN 47577; (812) 357-6718.

August

12—16—British Libraries: A visit to some well-known libraries in the English Midlands before the 1987 IFLA meeting at Brighton. The tour will begin at Heathrow and Gatwick Airports on the morning of August 12. The tour will visit academic, public, endowed, subscription, parochial, cathedral, private, and learned society libraries. Accommodations for four nights will be in both modern and traditional hotels. Fee: £200 (about $300) per person sharing; £30 supplement (about $45) for a single room. This will cover bed, breakfast, evening meal, transportation, and all incidental costs. A reservation may be secured by sending $50 (payable to GSLIS CE Fund) to: Donald G. Davis Jr., Graduate School of Library and Information Science, University of Texas, Austin, TX 78712-1276; (512) 471-3821.

THE CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertisements are $5.00 per line for ACRL members, $6.25 for others. Late job notices are $12.00 per line for members, $14.00 for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status.