Deadlines: Orders for regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g., September 2 for the October issue). Should this date fall on a weekend or holiday, ads will be accepted on the next business day. Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $9.75 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $11.65 for others. Late job notices are $22.70 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $27.50 for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status. Display ad rates range from $450 to $840 based upon size. Please call for sizes and rates. Or see our Web site: http://www.ala.org/acrl/advert2.html.

Guidelines: For ads that list an application deadline, we suggest that date be no sooner than the 20th day of the month in which the notice appears (e.g., October 20 for the October issue). All job announcements should include a term of appointment with over 15,000 students and 700 faculty. The modern, six-floor Library consists of 24 professionals, 46 support staff, and 108 student assistants. El Paso, located on the U.S. Mexico border, offers a unique winter climate, beautiful mountain sunrises and sunsets, and provides easy access to Mexico, New Mexico, and Arizona. DEAN OF LIBRARIES

Regis University

Regis University invites applications and nominations of individuals with vision, enthusiasm, and leadership ability for the position of Dean of Libraries. The successful candidate will lead the University libraries in the planning, development, and assessment of innovative programs in a forward-thinking, mission-focused institution.

RESPONSIBILITIES: Manages the operation of the Dayton Memorial Library in Denver, a branch library in Colorado Springs, and the provision of library resources to students at multiple campuses across the state and to distant learners. Responsible for strategic planning and development of library services, management of a budget, assistance in fund-raising, and setting goals and policies for library services. The Dean of Libraries reports to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs.

QUALIFICATIONS: Requirements include an ALA-accredited MLS degree and five years of increasing responsible experience in a leadership position. A second master's degree or doctorate is desirable. The successful applicant must have a working knowledge of modern academic libraries, current trends in the profession, emerging technologies, and management methods. The position requires a commitment to excellence in library services; strong interpersonal, oral, and written skills; ability and willingness to work collaboratively and to foster cooperation with various constituencies across the university.

Regis University is a Jesuit Catholic institution committed to value-centered education. The Libraries serve the University's three component schools: Regis College, a residential liberal arts college for traditionally-aged undergraduates; the School for Professional Studies, which offers bachelor's degree completion and master's degree programs in various delivery formats designed for working adults; and The School for Health Care Professions, with programs in both traditional and nontraditional delivery formats. The libraries serve some 1,100 traditional undergraduates and over 8,000 part-time adult students at seven campuses and teaching sites. Regis University is a full member of the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries. A $5.1 million renovation and expansion of the main library was completed in 1997.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Regis University offers excellent benefits, including tuition remission for employees and dependents. A relocation subsidy is included. Denver offers the amenities of the Rocky Mountains, a semi-arid climate, and a favorable consumer economy. Colorado is a leader in library collaboration as is evidenced by the Colorado Virtual Library, the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries, and the Colorado Library Card.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIAN
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY

The University of California, Berkeley invites applications and nominations for the position of University Librarian. This campus, one of the world’s leading intellectual centers, is renowned for the size and quality of its libraries and laboratories, the scope of its research and publications, and the distinction of its faculty and students. As the oldest and largest library in the University of California system, the Library is a major California research facility and internationally recognized for its broad collections and technological leadership.

THE LIBRARY: Library facilities under the University Librarian include the Doe-Moffitt Library, the Bancroft Library, the East Asian Library, and more than 20 additional subject-specialty libraries. These units are collectively known as The Library. The Library is an active participant in the California Digital Library. The Library has a budget of over $50 million, and employs over 440 FTE, including professional and paraprofessional staff, and more than 600 part-time students.

RESPONSIBILITIES: Management of The Library; leadership and innovation in its programs; excellence in library services; maintenance of faculty relations; accountability for a budget of state, gift, and endowed funds; planning and evaluation; oversight of public relations and fund development. The University Librarian reports to the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost of the Berkeley campus and represents the campus on UC systemwide library management and advisory groups. The University Librarian is advised by the Academic Senate. The University Librarian is a key administrative leader and serves on the Council of Deans and other University policy bodies.

QUALIFICATIONS: The University seeks a visionary and creative leader to provide institutional direction. Candidates should have: significant achievement in areas relevant to the administration of a major research library; a demonstrably strong commitment to excellence in research and service; knowledge of collection development, public and technical services, library technology, and the changing landscape of scholarly communication; the ability to conceive and articulate a vision for the future of library and information resources and services; a deep commitment to participative management and staff development; a firm grasp of current issues in higher education; the ability to forge effective links with faculty and academic programs; the ability to work effectively with library staff to maintain the Library's continuing organizational renewal process; and the necessary skills to lead The Library in developing innovative, technologically advanced programs and services.

The successful candidate will have either an MLS from an ALA-accredited library school or equivalent experience; additional educational attainment and/or substantial research experience in librarianship or another discipline; demonstrated skills in planning and budgeting within a large and complex environment; an interest in overseeing The Library's development program; and the ability to work productively with and to promote collaboration between library staff, faculty, administration, and the broader University community. Candidates must be able to advocate effectively for the Library, its programs and services, its users, and its staff.

The Library at Berkeley is committed to the support and encouragement of a multicultural environment and seeks candidates who can make positive contributions in a context of ethnic and cultural diversity.

Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The position is open until filled. Candidates should apply in writing, including with the letter a complete statement of qualifications, a full résumé of education and relevant experience, and the names and addresses of three references to:

Wheaton College invites applications and nominations for the newly created position of College Librarian and Associate Vice President for Technology and Information Services. This person will provide leadership for all areas of technology across the campus as the College moves to coordinate its uses of and programs in technology and information services, both in support of the academic mission of the College and in its management and operations.

With a nationally recognized record of achievement in using technology to enhance teaching and learning, the College recognizes that a unified vision of information technology services is critical to its ability to fulfill its liberal arts mission. The campus has been fully networked for the past six years and offered its first online courses to its graduates this spring. In the past four years, over a half million dollars of grant money has supported pedagogical and curricular applications of information technology. The Librarian/Associate Vice President will provide leadership in developing proposals for further foundation support, in continuing to develop current initiatives and programs, and in developing new initiatives that fulfill the College's vision of the role of information literacy in the educational experience of Wheaton students. He or she will also be responsible for overseeing the emergence of a centralized structure, based in the Madeleine Clark Wallace Library, to insure the integrity and achievement of that vision.

As the College Librarian, he or she will guide the Library in its continued evolution as an undergraduate library in the electronic age, having responsibility, among other things, for active instructional programs committed to fostering information literacy, for the library's Innovative Interfaces system, and for its collections and ongoing program of building renovation. He or she will also provide technology leadership and vision by coordinating the management of several other departments, including Media Services, Academic Computing, and Information Technologies and Services. At an institution that supports both Windows and Macintosh platforms and uses SCT's Banner system for administrative functions, this person will oversee systems improvements in using these platforms to strengthen academic programs, deliver services, present the College to the external world, and manage the institution. He or she will also guide efforts to standardize and improve the College's use of the Web, including migration to Web-based platforms and services as these become increasingly able to meet the College's computing and communication needs.

As the College's chief information officer, the position will report directly to the Provost (chief academic officer) and work closely with the VP for Finance and Operations. He or she will serve on the President's Council of senior officers and on the faculty-chaired Library, Technology and Learning Committee (LTLC), which has guided the application of technology across the curriculum over the past six years. The position will also convey faculty status.

The successful candidate will minimally possess a master's degree in library science from an ALA-accredited institution and will have had progressively responsible experience in one or more areas of information technology and service in an academic setting and/or in an academic library. He or she will demonstrate evidence of vision and leadership, the capability for collaborative long-range planning and implementation, and strong communication, supervisory, and management skills.

Application materials should include a letter of interest that addresses how the candidate's strengths and experience match qualifications for the position, a curriculum vitae, and the names and contact information of five possible references. They should be sent to:

Provost Susanne Woods, Co-Chair
Librarian/Associate VP Search Committee

PUBLIC SERVICES/ELECTRONIC REFERENCE LIBRARIAN. University of North Carolina at Asheville. Primary Responsibilities:
CHAIR, SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING INFORMATION CENTER
The University of Southern California

The Information Services Division of the University of Southern California invites applications and nominations for the position of Chair of the Science and Engineering Information Center. The University is seeking applicants with excellent management skills who can provide creative and dynamic leadership as the Center continues to redefine information services.

The Center encompasses three libraries with a combined staff of five librarians and seven library assistants: the Science and Engineering Library, the Hancock Library of Biology and Oceanography, and the Wrigley Marine Science Center Library (located on Catalina Island, twenty miles off the coast of Los Angeles). The Science Center provides print resources (470,000 volumes and approximately 3,000 journal subscriptions) and electronic resources (currently 870 e-journals, 60 databases, and more than 200 other Web resources) as well as specialized services and professional expertise in support of research and education in the sciences and engineering. The Center serves primarily the School of Engineering (www.usc.edu/dept/engineering/ and the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences (www.usc.edu/dept/LAS/Main); primary users include approximately 240 engineering faculty, 135 sciences faculty, and more than 5,000 graduate, post-graduate, and undergraduate students.

DESCRIPTION OF THE INFORMATION SERVICES DIVISION:

The University Libraries are an integral part of the University of Southern California Information Services Division (ISD). Serving one of the nation's largest private research universities, the ISD is a unified organization with the explicit goal of providing highest quality and fully integrated computer, telephone, and research services. To accomplish its goal, the ISD is structured into three primary components: Resources and Services, Infrastructure Core, and the Center for Scholarly Technology, with central support units in Administrative Services, Operations, and Advancement. The Science and Engineering Center is located administratively within Resources and Services.

USC houses a collection of more than 2.8 million volumes in the main Doheny Library and 12 specialized subject libraries. USC is a member of the Association of Research Libraries, the Big 12 Plus library consortium, and the Research Libraries Group, and is the host institution for the Southern California Electronic Library Consortium. Additional information about the University of Southern California and the Information Services Division can be obtained at: www.usc.edu and www.usc.edu/isd.

DESCRIPTION OF RESPONSIBILITIES:

Reporting to the Director of Public Services, and working closely with the other Center Chairs (Arts Center, Undergraduate Center, and Humanities and Social Sciences Center), the Chair provides leadership for the Center's collections and services, with ultimate responsibility for short-term and long-term planning in the areas of research services, instructional services, collection development, and faculty liaison responsibilities. Public Services Librarians work collaboratively with all library personnel to meet the information needs of the academic community. Teaching assignments include traditional reference desk service, guidance in the use of electronic resources including the World Wide Web, one-to-one consultations, the more formal teaching of a required credit course in library research, and course-related bibliographic instruction. A key member of the library's Web Team, the successful candidate will provide input on aesthetics of Web design and guidance on user interfaces, and may be assigned duties as Web development librarian. The incumbent will also serve as bibliographer and liaison to assigned academic departments depending upon subject background and personal interests. Additional assignments may include management of a selective deposit of U.S. government publications. Appointment includes the expectation of full participation in faculty governance. University committees, student life, and a continuing contribution to the profession.

Qualifications: Required: ALA-accredited MLS; additional graduate degree; successful experience or training in Web design; successful experience or training in the use of traditional and electronic reference sources; a commitment to undergraduate education and the values of the liberal arts; and excellent communication skills. Preferred: Reference experience at the professional level in an academic library; classroom teaching or bibliographic instruction experience; experience or coursework in government documents; experience or coursework in collection development. Rank/Benefits: Assistant or Associate Professor (depending upon qualifications); 12-month, tenure-track appointment; salary minimum of $32,000, commensurate with qualifications and experience; 20 days' vacation and 12 days' sick leave per year; choice of state or optional retirement plans; state pays employee's medical insurance premiums. For full position announcement, see: http://bullpup.lib.unca.edu/library/index.html. Screening of applications begins September 18, 2000, and continues until the position is filled. Submit a cover letter, current resume, and the names, addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of three professional references to: Lynne Olin, Library Administration, D. Hiden Ramsey Library, CPO #1500, UNC-Asheville, Asheville, NC 28804-8504. For more information about Ramsey Library, visit the library's Web site at: http://bullpup.lib.unca.edu/library/.

REFERENCE LIBRARIAN (PUBLIC AFFAIRS/GOVERNMENT INFORMATION): Penn State Capital College, Harrisburg campus, seeks to fill a tenure-track librarian position to provide general reference... technology advancement, and access services, and, most importantly, the connection of all these services to end-user needs.

The successful candidate will develop strong relationships with teaching faculty in the sciences and engineering to ensure that services meet teaching and research needs; will work with ISD administration and colleagues to provide leadership for the advancement of integrated service models across the Information Services Division; will lead the Center to the next level of broad-based and ubiquitously available information services while preserving the historical integrity of the print collection and information services; will design and implement electronic initiatives in collaboration with colleagues; and will provide ongoing assessment of programs and services.

Librarians at USC have faculty status and are represented in the Academic Senate. All library faculty members are expected to be professionally active through involvement in regional and national associations and/or research and publication.

QUALIFICATIONS:
Applicants should address their qualifications from the following: demonstrated successful experience in leadership and management of complex organizations; academic experience in the sciences, advanced degree strongly preferred; substantial experience in the provision of information services in an academic or research environment; experience in developing strong working relationships with teaching and research faculty; ability to work effectively with faculty, students, and staff members from a variety of cultural and ethnic backgrounds; awareness of national and international trends in science education, technology, and information services; demonstrated success in applying technology to information services; experience balancing print and electronic collection development; master’s degree in library and information science or equivalent training/experience; excellent oral and written communication skills; and ability to meet USC’s standards for continuing appointment.

APPOINTMENT RANK/SALARY:
Rank and salary commensurate with experience and qualifications. Generous benefits package includes medical and dental coverage and a choice of retirement plans.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE:
The search will continue until the position is filled. Review of applicants will begin November 1, 2000. Send letter of application, curriculum vita, and names of three references (with addresses and phone numbers) to:
