Declarations of regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g., September must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the October issue). Should this date fall on a weekend or holiday, ads will be accepted on the next business day. Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $10.85 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $12.95 for others. Late job notices are $24.95 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $12.95 for others.

Deadlines: For ads that list an application deadline, we suggest that date be no sooner than the 20th day of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g., October 20 for the December issue). All job announcements should include a salary range per policy of the American Library Association (ALA). Job announcements will be edited to exclude discriminatory references. Applicants should be aware that the terms 'faculty rank' and 'status' vary in meaning among institutions.

Internet: C&RL News classified ads are accessible on the Web at http://www.ala.org/acrl/jobs. Ads will be placed approximately four weeks before the printed edition of C&RL News is published.

Contact: Elise Parker, Classified Advertising Manager, C&RL News Classified Advertising Department, ACRL, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611-2795; (312) 280-2513; fax: (312) 280-7663 or (312) 280-2520; e-mail: crlnewsads@ala.org.

Policy: ALA policy requires that organizations recruiting through ALA publications or placement services comply with ALA anti-discrimination policies. Policy 54.3 states that "ALA is committed to equality of opportunity for all library employees or applicants for employment, regardless of race, color, creed, sex, age, physical or mental handicap, individual lifestyle, or national origin." By advertising through ALA services, the organization agrees to comply with this policy.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE. The University of Western Ontario. Deadline for receipt of applications: January 15, 2004, or until position is filled. The Faculty of Information and Media Studies (FIMS) at The University of Western Ontario invites applications for a full-time, probationary appointment (tenure-track) at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2004. A second limited term position at the level of Assistant Professor or Lecturer may be made. Candidates must have Ph.D. completed or nearing completion in Library and Information Science or related area and show evidence of strong research potential and excellence in teaching. Experience as a librarian or information manager in a traditional or non-traditional setting is an asset. This position is directed to individuals who have teaching and research interests at the intersection of information and technology, and users with an emphasis in either of two areas: information technology and systems or reference services/user studies. Currently, the normal teaching workload in FIMS is four half-courses per academic year. The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to contribute to the faculty's programs, especially the master's and Ph.D. programs in Library and Information Science. Expertise in one or more of the following areas is desirable: Information systems and architecture, interface design and usability, digital libraries, user studies, health informatics, or government information. The Faculty of Information and Media Studies is a vibrant, expanding faculty of 90 full-time faculty members and 17 non-academic staff. It currently offers the following graduate programs: a master's and doctoral program in Library and Information Science, a master's in Journalism, and a new graduate program in Media Studies. The faculty also offers an undergraduate program in Media, Information, and Technology with an enrollment of 700 students. Information about the faculty and description of our programs are available at http://www.fims.uwo.ca. The University of Western Ontario is committed to equality of opportunity for all library employees or applicants for employment, regardless of race, color, creed, sex, age, physical or mental handicap, individual lifestyle, or national origin. By advertising through ALA services, the organization agrees to comply with this policy.

ASSOCIATE HEAD LIBRARIAN
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Libraries seek an experienced, enthusiastic, and service-oriented librarian to serve as Associate Head of the Dewey Library for Management and Social Sciences. This is an exciting opportunity to work with a dynamic user community and to be part of a creative team responsible for developing and shaping responsive and innovative library services for MIT’s highly ranked management and social sciences programs.

Dewey Library is one of five divisional libraries serving the MIT community, focusing on the Sloan School of Management and programs of Economics and Political Science and a growing number of interdisciplinary programs in other schools and departments. With collections of more than 560,000 volumes and a staff of 20, Dewey offers a full range of services to support the information needs of the MIT community. Preliminary planning has been completed and fundraising is underway for a new library facility.

RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE: Serving as liaison to the Sloan School; providing leadership for user services; maintaining the visibility of Dewey to Sloan faculty, students, and administrators and advancing and sustaining an effective outreach program; supporting and guiding self-motivated staff in planning, developing, implementing, and assessing user services, which includes supervision of reference and instruction coordinators; participating in systemwide planning for new and enhanced services; assisting the Head Librarian in managing financial and human resources; leading and managing Dewey in the Head's absence; providing reference assistance and instruction; training staff; and selecting materials in management areas.

QUALIFICATIONS: Required: ALA-accredited MLS/MLIS; five years' increasingly responsible experience, some in an academic or research library; subject expertise in management, business, or social science disciplines through education or experience; excellent interpersonal, communication, organizational, and analytical skills; ability to work effectively with and understand information needs of an academic community; experience in coordinating or supervising staff and working cooperatively with colleagues; high level of computer literacy and ability to utilize new technologies in service delivery; significant experience in reference and/or instruction; strong commitment to user-centered services; flexibility; ability to deal with ambiguity; record of increasing professional contribution. Preferred: Management or social science degree; experience in an academic or special library focusing on management or business, or as a business reference librarian; two years' supervisory experience.

HIRING SALARY: $58,000 minimum. Actual salary based on qualifications and experience.

APPLICATION DEADLINE AND PROCEDURE: Review of résumés will begin October 20, 2003. Send cover letter, résumé, and names and addresses of three current references to:

Search Committee for Associate Head Librarian (CRL)
MIT Libraries, Room 14S-324
77 Massachusetts Avenue
Cambridge, MA 02139-4307

Applications may also be faxed to: (617) 253-0583.

MIT offers excellent benefits, including a choice of health plans, a dental plan, retirement plan, and tuition assistance. The MIT Libraries affords a flexible and collegial working environment and fosters professional growth of its staff with management training and travel funding for professional meetings.

MIT is strongly and actively committed to diversity within its community and particularly encourages applications from qualified women and ethnic minority candidates.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIAN
Washington and Lee University

Washington and Lee University invites nominations and applications for the position of University Librarian. Reporting to the Provost, the University Librarian is responsible for operations, services, and collections for Leyburn Library and the Science Library, in addition to collaboration with the Law Library. The University Librarian oversees a budget of $2.25 million and a staff of seven librarians and 12 administrative/support staff. The library collections total approximately 630,000 volumes with over 2,500 paper and electronic subscriptions and access to numerous other databases and online services. The next University Librarian will bring a clear vision of how the library will continue to support teaching, learning, and research through enhancing the current positive environment of collaboration between the library and computing staffs. As a consequence of this collaboration, the University Librarian will help to develop a strategic plan including an information commons with a central location in the library.

Founded in 1749, Washington and Lee is a highly selective, national liberal arts university located in historic Lexington, Virginia. Most states and more than 40 foreign countries are represented among its 1,700 undergraduates and 350 law students. The Law School, the university’s only post graduate program, and the Williams School of Commerce, Economics, and Politics complement a distinguished liberal arts program in the college. The university is a member of the Associated Colleges of the South consortium in which the library is an active participant. The university has reached the goal of its ambitious $225 million capital campaign ahead of schedule. These funds will enable significant construction and renovation to the historic campus, increased endowment for financial aid and faculty support, and new program support to an already dynamic curriculum.

Candidates for University Librarian will: i) have earned an advanced degree with preference for an MLS from an ALA-accredited institution; ii) demonstrate a record of significant leadership experience in an academic library, especially in the areas of planning, budgeting, administration, and personnel management; iii) possess a thorough understanding of the relationship between libraries and information technologies for higher education, and the background required to provide strong leadership in all areas of modern information delivery services.

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2003. The successful candidate should assume duties no later than July 1, 2004. Nominations and applications (which should include a letter of application, résumé, and names of three references) should be sent electronically or in hard copy to:
