THE CLASSIFIED ADS

Deadlines: Orders for regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g. September 2 for the October issue). Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $5.25 per line for ACRL members, $6.60 for others. Late job notices are $12.60 per line for members, $14.70 for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status.

Telephone: All telephone orders should be confirmed by a written order mailed to ACRL headquarters as soon as possible. Orders should be accompanied by a typewritten copy of the ad to be used in proofreading. An additional $15 will be charged for ads taken over the phone (except late job notices or display ads).

Guidelines: For ads which list an application deadline, that date must be no sooner than the 20th day of the month in which the notice appears (e.g., October 20 for the October issue). All job announcements should include a salary figure. Job announcements will be edited to exclude discriminatory references. Applicants should be aware that the terms faculty rank and status vary in meaning among institutions.

JOBLINE: Call (312) 944-6795 for late-breaking job ads for academic and research library positions. A pre-recorded summary of positions listed with the service is revised weekly; each Friday a new tape includes all ads received by 1:00 p.m. the previous day. Each listing submitted will be carried on the recording for two weeks. The charge for each two-week listing is $30 for ACRL members and $35 for non-members.

Fast Job Listing Service: A special newsletter for those actively seeking positions. This service lists job postings received at ACRL headquarters four weeks before they appear in C&RL News, as well as as ads which, because of narrow deadlines, will not appear in C&RL News. The cost of a six-month subscription is $10 for ACRL members and $15 for non-members.

Contact: Classified Advertising Dep’t, ACRL, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611; (312) 944-6780.

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR FOR PUBLIC SERVICES
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

This position includes primary responsibility for directing the public services activities of the MIT Libraries including administration of divisional and branch libraries, information services, literature searching, and services to outside users. Along with the Director of Libraries and three other Associate Directors (Administration, Collection Management and Technical Services, and Systems and Planning) the incumbent will participate fully in the overall administration of the library system, including long-range planning, program development and evaluation, budget formulation, and the establishment of system-wide policies.

The Associate Director for Public Services has oversight of five major subject libraries—Architecture and Planning, Engineering, Humanities, Science, and Social Sciences and Management—and their branch libraries. The heads of these libraries report to the Associate Director as does the Head of the Computerized Literature Search Service. Total public services staff include 45 professionals, 66 support staff, and 19 FTE student assistants.

Among the major new initiatives in which the Associate Director will play a primary role are an assisted self-study of information services; expanded use of CD-ROM and other technologies in reference and information services; extension of services through the campus network; and strengthening links with and services to faculty, students, and research staff.

MIT has implemented an online information system consisting of an online public access catalogue, circulation, MARC records management system, and electronic mail, using a Geac computer. A major retrospective conversion project will commence shortly. Further automation efforts will focus on authority control, acquisitions, and serials.

The Libraries’ collections total over 2 million printed volumes, over 1.5 million microforms, and extensive collections of slides, photographs, sound recordings, printed music, maps, manuscripts, motion pictures and video recordings, and computer software. The total budget for FY 1989 is over $10.5 million, the materials budget is over $2.7 million. Total staff of 275 includes 87 professionals, 151 support staff, and 37 FTE student assistants. The MIT Libraries maintain memberships in the Boston Library Consortium, OCLC (through NELINET), and the Association of Research Libraries.

Qualifications for this position include an MLS from an ALA-accredited library school. Additional graduate work in a subject area relevant to MIT’s research and teaching programs is highly desirable. Very extensive and increasingly responsible experience in public services in a research library is required. Candidates are expected to have familiarity with current issues affecting information and reference services in a university library including a thorough understanding of the applications of new and emerging technologies. Candidates should have had substantial experience in the supervision and management of public services in a library whose collections include substantial holdings in engineering and science. Candidates will be expected to demonstrate a command of issues facing research libraries today and in the near future, as well as highly developed interpersonal and analytical skills. Equally important is the ability to work effectively as a member of a senior management team in a major research library. Candidates will also be expected to demonstrate a record of leadership and achievement in the library profession.

Salary: $52,000+ commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The MIT Libraries offers excellent benefits, including tuition assistance, a children’s scholarship program, and a relocation allowance. MIT is a smoke-free campus.

Review of candidates will commence in August and continue until the position is filled. Interested candidates should send a resume and the names and addresses of five current, confidential references to:

SLAVIC CATALOGER

The University of California, Berkeley

Assistant or Associate Librarian. The Library’s Catalog Department at Berkeley is responsible for original cataloging in all languages except Chinese, Japanese, and Korean for the Main Library and its 23 branches. Currently the Department seeks a Slavic Cataloger to perform original cataloging of monographic and microform materials in sciences, technology, humanities, and social sciences in all Slavic languages—predominantly Russian. The Cataloger is responsible for full MARC coding of cataloging records input to the UC Berkeley online catalog. Other duties include contributing to the development of the online public access catalog, training staff, and assisting copy catalogers. University of California Librarians are expected to contribute to the profession outside the primary assignment through such activities as Library or University service, participation in professional associations, or publication. An MLS from an ALA-accredited library school or equivalent is required, as is thorough familiarity with the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules, 2nd edition, the Library of Congress Rule Interpretations, Library of Congress Subject Headings and Classification Schedules, and the MARC format. Fluency in Russian is essential. Knowledge of one of the Western Slavic languages, preferably Polish, is highly desirable, along with recent original cataloging experience and knowledge of automated databases such as OCLC and/or RLIN. A strong background in sciences and humanities, of the latter preferably in Slavic studies, is required; an advanced degree in such a field is highly desirable.

Rank and salary ($26,136–$33,444/year) based on qualifications. Position available September 1, 1989. Closing date for applications: July 16, 1989. Apply in writing, including with your letter a statement of qualifications, resume of education and experience, and the names and addresses of 3 references. Apply to:

CATALOGING SUPERVISOR, Cataloging with Copy Department. The Columbia Libraries are in the process of implementing an online integrated system for information services. A central component of the system is the online catalog, CLIO, which became a NOTIS-based system in Spring 1989. The Libraries add approximately 100,000 new catalog records each year, and will be engaged for some time in continuing retrospective conversion of older records. We seek a Cataloging Supervisor with the skills, vision and energy needed to assist in the transition to a locally based catalog while maintaining high cataloging production standards. Reporting to the Head of Cataloging with Copy, the Cataloging Supervisor supervises departmental staff working with LC and other approved copy, participates in reviewing and altering methods of workflow and cataloging policies within the department, and participates in planning related to the Libraries' bibliographic control functions. In addition, the incumbent performs original cataloging of rush material in all western languages and in one specially assigned subject or language area. With the transition to a NOTIS-based catalog, it is anticipated that the incumbent will plan new workflows for record maintenance including the processing of added locations, added copies, and new routines for bibliographic maintenance. The Cataloging with Copy Department (3 librarians, one supervisor, 23 support staff, and 3 FTE student assistants) has responsibility for copy cataloging and the input of bibliographic records into RLIN and the Libraries NOTIS-based catalog. The Department is one of four departments within the Bibliographic Control Division, which includes Original Monographs Cataloging, Catalog Maintenance, and Serials Cataloging. In addition to an accredited MLS, requirements are: strong organizational and analytical skills; effective verbal and written communications skills; knowledge of cataloging principles, MARC formats, LC subject headings and classification; and working knowledge of one or more Western European languages. Experience in technical services, knowledge of automated cataloging procedures, research library and supervisory experience, and experience in the use of RLIN and NOTIS are desirable. Salary ranges are: Librarian I: $26,000—$33,800; Librarian II: $28,000—$37,800; Librarian III: $31,000—$44,950. DIRECTOR OF SPECIAL COLLECTIONS. The University of New Mexico General Library offers an exciting opportunity for someone of vision, energy, and enthusiasm. The right person will use experience and imagination to lead a dynamic and innovative special collections department in a period of transition and growth. We are searching for an "entrepreneur" who will provide the leadership required to direct the Special Collections Department, the pivotal department of the General Library's newly-established Center for Southwest Research. We need someone with knowledge of the Southwest and strong communication skills; a record of, or strong potential for, creative fundraising for new and established programs; experience with and commitment to automation; the willingness and demonstrated ability to manage a department within a collegial environment; the ability to create and develop programs; and experience with or knowledge of higher education in an academic setting. This individual will manage an established Special Collections department; inspire, motivate, and direct staff; raise funds; be instrumental in the development and growth of the Center for Southwest Research; play an important role in the team management of the General Library; create matter from energy; take risks; and garner good will and support from public and private sectors. This position requires an MLS from an ALA-accredited program and/or Ph.D. or other doctoral degree. The Special Collections Department is a major resource center for the study of the American West, especially the Southwest. The department has active reference, collection development, automation, preservation, outreach, and oral history programs. It houses manuscripts, architectural collections, photoarchives, rare books, congressional papers, university records, and specialized Hispanic, Native American, and Latin American materials. Services are provided by three faculty and eight staff. The Center for Southwest Research fosters university-wide interdisciplinary study of research pertaining to the Southwest. The programs and services of the Center are open for innovation, research, and development. The Center currently incorporates the Special Collections Department and affiliated research projects and academic programs in a federated arrangement directed by the Dean of Library Services. The General Library, with a collection of over 1,300,000 volumes, is a member of the Association of Research Libraries and the AMIGOS Bibliographic Utility. The collection is located in Zimmerman Library and four branches. The General Library utilizes the LS/2 circulation system, INNOVACQ acquisitions and serials control system, and Carlyle online catalog. The Library is administered and managed by the Dean, Associate Dean, and the Library Management Team which also includes the directors of the branch libraries and centers and heads of departments. The Management Team makes broad operational, personnel, and budgetary decisions while leaving considerable latitude to department heads in managing their departments. The University of New Mexico main campus has an enrollment of 24,500 and employs 1,400 faculty and 3,800 staff. The institution serves a multi-cultural state and the student body is one of the most ethnically diverse in the nation. UNM offers 54 master's degrees and 35 doctoral and professional degrees. Salary is negotiable from $35,000. This is a twelve-month, tenure-track faculty position. Rank is negotiable from Assistant Professor. It is assumed that the incumbent in the position will comply with the policies of the Faculty Handbook including research, publication, and service to the profession and community. Submit a resume (including names, addresses, and phone numbers for at least three references) and a letter of application to: Rita Critchfield, Personnel Office, General Library, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131. Applications received by September 1, 1989, will be given first consideration. Position is contingent on available funds. Recruitment will continue until position is filled. UNM is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer.

"I spent 16 years in an academic library where I experienced firsthand the complexities of serials management, the challenges of collection development and the great demands placed on academic librarians. At EBSCO I’ve found a significant way to put that experience to work for our customers.

"I’m an Account Services Manager, a position that’s unique to EBSCO in the serials subscription business. It’s my job to see that you get all the help you need from EBSCO to manage your serials responsibilities effectively. So I listen ... I advise ... and I solve problems.

"Like my counterparts in EBSCO Regional Offices across the country, I work with the other members of your serials support group—the EBSCO Sales Representative, General Manager and Customer Service Representative—to ensure that the routine aspects of your subscription program are handled promptly and efficiently. But I’m also available to help with the more sophisticated, non-routine needs you might have—like collection development reports, budget planning reports, inservice training seminars, reviews of services provided and of others available through EBSCO ... whatever your special needs may be."

Lee Ketcham, MLS
Account Services Manager

At EBSCO, we think librarians deserve qualified personnel who know and understand the challenges they face. Isn’t that what you expect from a professional subscription agency?

jobs today

Current developments concerning employment, particularly of the young, the elderly, women, and the disabled.

Subscription rate: $48.00 per year; $15 per issue.

In a land of plenty we have by the millions: disillusioned young people who never expect to hold jobs ... bewildered seniors cast adrift by unwanted retirement ... women, minorities, and hand-capped victimized by job discrimination in many forms. Yet, millions of job openings go unfilled.

Jobs Today, just launched in 1989, is already on its way to making a number of dents in this vast problem.

In Issue No. 1, Youth, Jean K. Elder reports on great strides being made by Youth 2000, a project of the U.S. Office of Human Development Services whose goals are twofold: providing jobs for every qualified teenager ... and making sure that millions of young people, currently "disconnected" from society, are qualified by the year 2000. Other articles discuss Wall Street, banking, the military and other fields, with practical guidance on preparing for—and getting—jobs in these areas.

College and non-college alternatives—using library resources in job hunting; résumés and interviews that land jobs; holiday employment as preparation for the real thing—all are typical of the 21 articles by experts on the firing line of youth employment.

Issue No. 2, Seniors, focuses on problems and opportunities of older workers. Retirees seeking rewarding full- or part-time jobs ... seniors who do not wish to retire ... elderly people who prefer to work at home ... and employers who are open to using the skills of workers with long experience ... all will find useful guidelines in these pages. It contains over 100 articles, ranging from practical tips on interview techniques to detailed reports on employers the methods other companies use to tap this vast labor resource.

Cumulative index by general fields, precise subjects, and by people, places, and organizations makes all material add up, issue by issue, to a unique encyclopedia of otherwise hard-to-find information.

Selected bibliographies identify major sources for detailed information on subjects dealt with in the articles. Coming issues will focus on employment problems and opportunities of women, handicapped, minorities, at-home entrepreneurs, and disadvantaged people.

New Reference on British Literati
THE BLOOMSBURY ICONOGRAPHY
Edited by Elizabeth P. Richardson. Illus. 384 pages. Published by St. Paul's Bibliographies, Winchester, England, 1989. Distributed in North America exclusively by Omnigraphics. $84.00

This new index brings together and classifies printed portraits, sketches, and photos of Lytton Strachey, Virginia and Leonard Woolf, E. M. Forster, Roger Fry and Clive Bell, and others who made up London's distinguished Bloomsbury people, places, and things relating to this famous group which flourished in the first third of the century at Bloomsbury Square, the center of London's cultural activities.

This index to pictures of the group, their families, friends, and terrain will be a useful reference source for researchers in art, photography, crafts and decoration, social history, and bibliography. There are nearly 4,000 pictures from some 400 sources.

Phonames build goodwill faster than any other tool that costs so little
PHONAMES DICTIONARY
Introduction by Faith and Ross Eckler. 664 pages. Over 33,000 entries. $350.00

Many of your patrons may be passing up millions of dollars worth of free advertising. Even your library may be missing out on a valuable goodwill device.

But you can now help end this waste with this unusual new Phonames Dictionary. Phonames are a tool you see at work everyday. Ads on radio and TV, in newspapers and magazines, on billboards, in the Yellow Pages, say . . . Dial BUTCHER for meat . . . For vacation planning, dial 1-TRAVEL . . . For car care, call SERVICE . . . For burglary protection, dial 4-SAFETY . . . For a locksmith, call LOCKMAN.

Just ask the law firm that owns the phone number: 529-9377, how much they'd take for their combination that spells "LAWYERS." Ask Amtrak what value they place on the number they advertise nationwide: "Call 1-800-USA-RAIL." Of course, nobody gets such lucky numbers by luck. They require planning. To take the guesswork out of this important planning, Omnigraphics offers the world's first directory that provides all the guidance you need to create Phonames that "sell" a company, institution, product, service, or idea.

Just open Phonames Dictionary and you'll see page after page of numbers—with the WORDS they can spell on any telephone dial. Over 33,000 combinations altogether!

All items on 60-day approval.
