Periodical prices
The 2001 U.S. Periodical Price Index, sponsored for the 41st time by the Library Materials Price Index Committee of ALA’s Association for Library Collections and Technical Services, reported the average price per title, excluding the most expensive category—Russian translations—rose from $241.54 to $261.56, which represents an 8.3% rate of increase, down 0.7 of a percentage point from last year. The rate has been very similar over the past four years with 9.9% and 10.3% increases posted in 1997 and 1998, respectively, and 10.4% and 9.0% in 1999 and 2000."

Education industry revenues
Eduventures.com’s annual education industry report indicates a 2.6 percent increase to $102 billion in 2001. The pre-K–12 market accounted for $58 billion, corporate and professional education for $27.4 billion, and postsecondary, ranking third, for $16.5 billion.

Library use in UK
According to a recently released study by the Audit Commission, visits to UK libraries dropped to 290 million in 2000–01, a decline of 17 percent since 1992–93. Circulation has dropped by 23 percent during the last three years.

British reading habits
A recent study of British reading habits, conducted by Book Marketing Limited for the Orange Prize for Fiction, asked adults who read for pleasure to keep a diary of their reading for a period of three months. Respondents reported reading an average of 6 hours weekly, including 77 minutes reading fiction books, 17 minutes reading “reference books (e.g., cookery, gardening),” and 41 minutes reading “non-fiction books (e.g., history, biography).”

Internet health information seekers
Recent surveys of “health seekers” for the Pew Internet Project found that only about one quarter of the “62% of Internet users, or 73 million people in the United States, who have gone online in search of health information . . . follow the recommended protocol on thoroughly checking the source and timeliness of information and are vigilant about verifying a site’s information every time they search for health information.”

Ann Viles is coordinator of reference and instruction at Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina, e-mail: vilesea@conrad.appstate.edu
EBSCO is committed to providing information resources and to offering solutions that help you put those resources to work in your library. We’ve developed comprehensive print subscription services as well as e-journal and database systems that offer electronic access to thousands of titles. Our sophisticated linking capabilities allow researchers to easily find content in any format, whether from your OPAC or Web page or our easy-to-use interfaces. We’ve also created a new online book ordering service, a simple solution for acquiring titles needed quickly. To learn more about our solutions for your library, visit www.ebsco.com.

EBSCO Information Services ... bringing together the pieces of your information collection.

www.ebsco.com
1) Content you can trust.

Westlaw Campus, designed by West Group, the leading provider of legal information since 1876, is the new online legal research tool created specifically for undergraduate and graduate students who need to research law-related issues. Whether the field of study is criminal justice, political science, business, or economics, Westlaw Campus is the essential resource.

2) Exclusive editorial enhancements make the law easier to comprehend.

Only Westlaw Campus includes editorial enhancements such as synopses and headnotes, all written to clarify your students’ understanding of the law.

3) Simple search options.

Students can search cases, statutes and regulations, by citation, by title or search by issue using Natural Language or Terms and Connectors. Students can research effectively with little or no instruction or assistance.

4) Unlimited researching.

No matter how many students access the service, no matter for what length of time, there are no budget-busting, per minute, per student fees that can change from month to month. Online fees are fixed and the lowest in the industry. Plus there are no distracting ads because Westlaw Campus is advertising-free – just great legal research, all the time.