ACRL Standards Working Papers Available from ERIC

The working papers of the ACRL Subcommittee to Revise the 1959 "Standards for College Libraries" are available from the ERIC Document Reproduction Service, as announced in the August 1976 issue of Resources in Education. The papers were prepared as part of the committee's work in revising the 1959 standards and present a background against which the purposes, objectives, and concepts of the 1975 standards were formulated.

The following ERIC document numbers have been assigned to the papers: Overview (title page, cover letter, and "Introduction" by Johnnie Givens)—ED 121 344; "Possible Model Based on the Carnegie Commission Groupings" by David L. Perkins—ED 121 348; "Identification of Library Elements in Statements of Accrediting Standards; A Review of the Literature" by Herman L. Totten—ED 121 350; "Typology of Institutions of Higher Education" by James W. Pirie—ED 121 349; "Academic Libraries: Into the Eighties" by Arthur Monke—ED 121 347; "Foreign Standards for College Libraries" by David Kaser—ED 121 346; "Toward a 1975 Revision of the College Library Standards; Final Working Paper"—ED 121 345.

Orders for copies of the working papers should be addressed to the ERIC Document Reproduction Service, P.O. Box 190, Arlington, VA 22210. Instructions for placing orders are listed in each issue of Resources in Education, in the section entitled "How to Order ERIC Documents."

The revised Standards for College Libraries was approved as policy by the Board of Directors of the Association of College and Research Libraries in July 1975 and was published in the October 1975 issue of College & Research Libraries News. Reprints may be obtained from the Executive Secretary, Association of College and Research Libraries, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611.

The most fundamental concept of the Bauhaus school of design was the integration of art in daily life. It sought to end the 19th century schism between the artist and the technically expert craftsman by producing a functionalist design out of the interaction of both spheres.

The Bauhaus journal documents the aims achieved: text and picture interrelate in a typographically unique way. More than just a register of Bauhaus activity, the journal reflects in word and picture the dramatic changes taking place in the concept of art and its role in an industrial society.
