THE Classified ADS

Deadlines: Orders for regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g., September 2 for the October issue). Should this date fall on a weekend or holiday, ads will be accepted on the next business day. Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $8.75 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $10.75 for others. Late job notices are $20.50 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $24.95 for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status. Display ad rates range from $395 to $745 based upon size. Please call for sizes and rates.

Guidelines: For ads that list an application deadline, we suggest that date be no sooner than the 20th day of the month in which the notice appears (e.g., October 20 for the October issue). All job announcements should include a salary range per policy of the American Library Association (ALA). Job announcements will be edited to exclude discriminatory statements. Applicants should be aware that the terms faculty rank and status vary in meaning among institutions.

Internet: C&RL News classified ads are accessible on ACRL's homepage on the World Wide Web at http://www.ala.org/acrl.html. Ads will be placed approximately 2-3 weeks before the printed edition of C&RL News is published. To reach C&RL NewsNet access the ACRL homepage (http://www.ala.org/acrl.html), select C&RL News, and then chose the menu item Job Postings by Job Title.

Salary guide

Listed below are the latest minimum starting figures recommended by state library associations and the North Carolina State Library for professional library posts in these states. These recommendations are intended for governmental agencies that employ librarians. The recommendations are advisory only, and ALA has not adopted recommendations for minimum salaries. For information on librarian salaries, job seekers and employers should consider these recommended minimums, as well as other salary surveys (such as the survey in the October 15, 1989, issue of Library Journal, the ALA Survey of Librarian Salaries, the annual ARL Salary Survey, or the annual CUPA Administrative Compensation Survey) when evaluating professional vacancies. THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY
MILTON S. EISENHOWER LIBRARY

RESOURCE SERVICES LIBRARIAN FOR ART HISTORY, CLASSICS, AND PHILOSOPHY (LIBRARIAN III)

The mission of the Resource Services Department is to deliver the full range of reference, instructional, and collection development services to the Hopkins community. Resource Services librarians are subject specialists, each of whom is responsible for building strong, client-centered relationships with the faculty and students in the handful of disciplines he or she serves. The Eisenhower Library's commitment to working as a valued partner in the academic enterprise is being felt in four key ways: a concentration on designing services which respond to user feedback; a commitment to enable faculty, students, and staff to master the new information environment; a focused effort toward creating the digital library of the future; and a major remodeling and programmatic reorientation of the library's public service spaces. The Eisenhower Library prizes initiative, creativity, professionalism, and teamwork.

RESPONSIBILITIES: Understand and facilitate the work of the Art History, Classics, and Philosophy departments, and cultivate and manage close working relationships with the members of those departments; select traditional and electronic resources for the collection in assigned subject areas and manage related budgets; develop Web-based resources in assigned subject areas; provide a variety of general reference, research consultation, and instructional services to the academic community.

QUALIFICATIONS: MLS from an ALA-accredited library school; advanced degree or equivalent experience in art history preferred. Commitment to quality, client-centered service; ability to conduct seminars, and instructional programs in the use of the library and its resources; knowledge of the Internet and the World Wide Web; two or more years experience in collection development and/or reference in a research library; reading knowledge of two European languages, particularly French and German, highly desirable; willingness to work a flexible schedule including some evenings and weekends as part of a team.

For more information on the library, please consult our Web site at: http://www.milton.mse.jhu.edu:8001/libinfo.html. Starting salary range is $33,700-$43,000.

Northeastern University Libraries

Northeastern University Libraries invites applications from and nominations of individuals with the vision, energy, and leadership ability to articulate, plan, and coordinate our programs for collection development, electronic access, resource sharing, preservation, and disaster preparedness. The successful candidate will demonstrate an understanding of scholarly communication and curricular processes in higher education, their ongoing transformation by information technology and networks, and how these apply to collection development, collaborative information resource sharing, and electronic accessibility and delivery. The successful candidate will be experienced in effectively developing, implementing, administering, and evaluating innovative, comprehensive programs.

Articulate strategic plans and related goals and objectives, and the methods for achieving them. Oversee the preparation and currency of collection/electronic-access policy statements. Recommend allocations of and manage a $4 million collections/access budget. Analyze and assess the adequacy of collections and their funding for accreditation, program and budget reviews, and new curriculum proposals. In collaboration with legal counsel, review and negotiate licenses. Identify prospective funding sources, prepare proposals and grant applications, and develop gift programs. Coordinate, guide, and evaluate the activities of 20 librarians who participate in collection management, selection, and analysis, and who also serve as liaisons to academic disciplines. Supervise two FTE collection management assistants. May serve as liaison to and select materials for one or more academic disciplines. Assure close working relationships with faculty and curriculum committees. Member of the library’s administrative team. Represent the libraries consortially, regionally, and nationally on collection development, resource sharing, and preservation matters.

The library holds membership in OCLC/Nelinet, the Coalition for Networked Information Task Force, the Boston Library Consortium, and the Boston Regional Library System, and is a Commission on Preservation and Access sponsor. CARL Systems and Tandem computers are the current platforms for the catalog and for circulation and processing services. Northeastern, a Carnegie Research II institution, is student-focused and dedicated to a cooperative education/experiential learning model. A diverse student body of 20,000 undergraduates and 5,000 graduate students is enrolled in seven undergraduate colleges, nine graduate and professional schools, and two part-time undergraduate divisions. There also are active continuing education and distance learning programs. Visit our Web site for more information: http://www.neu.edu/library/.

QUALIFICATIONS: ALA-accredited MLS degree. At least five years demonstrated successful and increasingly responsible professional experience related to collection development and electronic access, preferably in an academic library and including effective supervision, budgetary analysis and development, and faculty relations. Knowledgeable about collection preservation and disaster preparedness, qualitative and quantitative collection analysis techniques, licensing issues, project management, collaborative program development, and trends in higher education, research, scholarly communication, and curricular development. High energy, and strong planning, organizational, interpersonal, analytical, negotiation, and oral and written communication skills. Ability to set priorities and to articulate goals and innovative programs. Commitment to staff development and to achieving and working with a diverse staff and user community. Prefer advanced subject degree, and familiarity with matrix organization structures.

SALARY: Competitive, commensurate with qualifications and experience. Excellent benefits package. Review of applications will begin October 10, 1997, and continue until the position is filled. Please send letter of application, resume, and the names of three references to:

ASSOCIATE UNIVERSITY LIBRARIAN

The Caltech Library System (CLS) seeks a self-motivated, enthusiastic and service-oriented Associate University Librarian to direct, organize, control and coordinate CLS business and financial activities.

Founded in 1921, Caltech is an independent, privately supported university in the Los Angeles area. Caltech conducts instruction at both the undergraduate and graduate level (approximately 900 undergraduate, 1,100 graduate and 1,000 faculty members). The Caltech graduate programs rate among the very best in the country (see www.caltech.edu).

The Caltech Library System is comprised of 17 FTE librarians and information technology professionals, and 44 FTE support staff. We maintain a collection of about 500,000 volumes, extensive microform, technical report, archival and map collections. Our mission is to provide library resources and forward-looking information services of the highest quality to facilitate the research and educational programs of the Institute. The Caltech Library System implemented the INNOPAC ILS five years ago and developed and maintains an extensive 15-year journal article database and automated document delivery service using the BRS search engine.

The Associate University Librarian also assists the University Librarian in directing, planning and evaluating CLS projects and activities and serves as liaison to the Caltech Budget and Finance organization. Other duties and responsibilities include managing CLS public relations programs, tracking all CLS equipment and supervising support staff. The Associate University Librarian reports to the University Librarian and is a member of CLS administrative cabinet.

Candidates must be ALA-accredited by the MLS and possess a B.A./B.S. degree in Business Administration or equivalent, minimum 5 years of professional experience in academic or research library administration and minimum 3 years of supervisory experience. Must have excellent skills in accounting principles/applications, working knowledge of technical financial management and analysis, and experience with automated systems for budget tracking, forecasting, modeling and purchasing information products and services. Requires an in-depth knowledge of automated library systems (Innovative preferred), Windows 95 or NT, Microsoft Word and Excel, along with excellent verbal/written and interpersonal skills. Prefer a demonstrated ability to devise new or improved financial management procedures and commitment to continuous learning and professional development along with experience in library technical processing operations and working knowledge of communication protocols.

Salary is highly competitive (minimum $50K annually) based on experience and qualifications. Competitive benefits include TIAA/CREF. For consideration, please send a letter of application with resume and the names and addresses of 3 references to: G. Thomas, Caltech Library System, Mail Code 1-32/CRLN, Pasadena, CA 91125. The position will remain open until it is filled.

INSTRUCTIONAL SERVICES LIBRARIAN

Bates College
The George and Helen Ladd Library

Bates College seeks nominations and applications for a new position of Instructional Services Librarian. Reporting to the Head of Reference and Instructional Services, this creative librarian is responsible for coordinating all library user-education programs, and working with faculty, library and Information Services staff, and colleagues at Colby and Bowdoin College libraries (CBB Libraries consortium) to assess user needs and design effective instructional opportunities. Serves as a member of the Reference and Instructional Services Unit in providing reference service, including evening and weekend hours. Also acts as collection management liaison in assigned subject areas.

Required qualifications include a master's degree from an accredited program in library or information science, reference service experience, and experience in teaching, training, or presentation. Excellent oral and written communication skills, ability to collaborate effectively, and thorough knowledge of print and electronic information sources are also required. Advanced study in a discipline related to the liberal arts, experience with Web page design and construction, and familiarity with software and technology related to Web-based instruction are desired.

Bates College is an undergraduate college of the liberal arts and sciences nationally recognized for the qualities of educational experience it provides. It serves some 1,600 students and 175 faculty. The George and Helen Ladd Library serves all academic programs of the college and is noted for its high-quality services and attractive physical environment. Recent renovations have added an instructional room/lab with networked workstations and projection capabilities, as well as a fully equipped Reference Area. The library collaborates with Colby and Bowdoin libraries, and is undertaking a three-year project funded by the Mellon Foundation which involves instructional services, integrating electronic access and collections, and videoconferencing among the three schools.

Salary is competitive. Applicants should submit a letter of application, a resume, and names, addresses and phone numbers of three current references to:
