CLASSIFIED ADS

Deadline: Orders for regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g., September 2 for the October issue). Should this date fall on a weekend or holiday, ads will be accepted on the next business day. Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $7.95 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $9.95 for others. Late job notices are $19.25 per line for institutions that are ACRL members, $22.25 for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status. Display ad rates range from $355 to $675 based upon size. Please call for sizes and rates.

Guidelines: For ads that list an application deadline, we suggest that date be no sooner than the 20th day of the month in which the notice appears (e.g., October 20 for the October issue). All job announcements should include a salary range per policy of the American Library Association (ALA). Job announcements will be edited to exclude discriminatory references. Applicants should be aware that the terms faculty, rank, and status vary in meaning among institutions.

Internet: C&RL News classified ads are accessible on the Internet through the gopher server at the University of Minnesota. Alternatively, connect to the University of Illinois at Chicago. Ads will be placed on the gopher approximately 2-3 weeks before the printed edition of C&RL News is published. To reach C&RL NewsNet locate the University of Illinois at Chicago in the menu of all servers maintained on gopher at the University of Minnesota. Alternatively, connect your favorite gopher client directly to host "gopher.uic.edu 70". Select "The Library" from the menu and then select "C&RL NewsNet" from the next menu.

Contact: Jack Helbig, Classified Advertising Manager, C&RL News Classified Advertising Department, ACRL, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611-2795; (312) 280-2513; fax: (312) 280-7663 or (312) 280-2520; e-mail: U21808@UICVM.uic.edu or jack.helbig@ala.org.

Policy: ALA policy requires that organizations recruiting employees comply with ALA anti-discrimination policies. Policy 54.3 states that "ALA is committed to equality of opportunity for all library employees or applicants for employment, regardless of race, color, creed, sex, age, physical or mental handicap, individual lifestyle, or national origin." By advertising through ALA services, the organization agrees to comply with this policy.

DIRECTOR, OFFICE OF INFORMATION LITERACY
University of Louisville Libraries

The University Libraries are seeking an enthusiastic, service-oriented librarian or educator to play a key role in the transformation of traditional library education programs into an integrated information literacy program.

The Libraries' New Vision planning document envisions a new university-wide instruction program whose goal is to enable students and staff to find, evaluate, and make effective use of information in all formats. The Director of Information Literacy will be responsible for coordinating and directing such a program in conjunction with other university departments and faculty. The Director will also work with the seven U of L libraries, the university's Information Technology unit, faculty, and students to develop the best strategies for providing instruction in information technologies and for integrating those technologies into the classroom.

The Director will coordinate curriculum support to promote effective use of both print-based and electronic information services; promote a high level of awareness throughout the university of trends and new developments in academic information services and in related areas of computing and networking technology; plan and develop a multifaceted assessment program. The person will be expected to meet requirements of a faculty position requiring professional development and service in addition to excellent job performance.

The Director will manage the staff and operations of information literacy facilities (classroom and user centers); recommend and plan new facilities as needed; coordinate planning and delivery of training for library personnel on effective use of information technology in their work. Reporting to the University Librarian, the Director will assist with development activities, writing grant proposals, and other fundraising to support information literacy programs, and administer the libraries' information literacy budget.

Minimum salary: $45,000, non-tenure track position.

TECHNICAL REFERENCE LIBRARIAN FOR PHYSICS AND ASTRONOMY
California Institute of Technology

The Caltech Library System seeks a self-motivated, enthusiastic, service-oriented librarian to provide information and subject expertise in physics, astronomy, and related technical subjects. The librarian oversees the daily operations of the Astrophysics Library and the maintenance requirements of three remote observatory reading rooms. The librarian maintains a strong working relationship with the faculty in the division, the Library System administration, and the faculty of related departments and is responsible for collection development, in-person, telephone, and/or electronic mail information/reference service using print and online resources, and research reference service encompassing in-depth consulting with graduate students and faculty.

The librarian will participate in librarywide initiatives and will work in a multidisciplinary team environment to explore and promote applications of new information technologies, including needs assessment, user education, evaluation of information in all formats, and special research projects. The librarian is responsible and accountable for problem solving and is empowered with the authority to make decisions at appropriate levels. The librarian reports to the Head of Technical Information Services.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: ALA-accredited MLS; undergraduate degree in physics or a related technical field or equivalent in experience; excellent verbal and written communication skills; excellent interpersonal skills, including the ability to work with students, coworkers, faculty, and administrators. Clear and demonstrated knowledge of new technologies and their applications to enhancing user services; expertise in computer-based systems.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: Three to five years technical and/or research library experience using the literature and electronic resources of the physical sciences. Demonstrated ability to devise new or improved products and services for a demanding, technologically sophisticated, research-oriented clientele. Demonstrated commitment to continuous learning and professional development for oneself and for the team and to active participation in the library profession.

Founded in 1921, the California Institute of Technology is an independent, privately supported university in the Los Angeles basin. Caltech conducts instruction at both the undergraduate and graduate levels: approximately 900 undergraduate students, 1,100 graduate students, and 1,000 faculty members. The Caltech graduate programs rate among the very best in the country. Caltech's World Web pages can be accessed at URL http://www.caltech.edu.

The Caltech Library System is comprised of 17 FTE librarians, 44 FTE support staff, and maintains a collection of about 500,000 volumes and extensive microform, technical report, archival, and map collections. Its mission is to provide library resources and forward-looking information services of the highest quality to facilitate the research and educational programs of the institute. The Caltech Library System implemented the INNOPAC ILS five years ago and developed and maintains an extensive 13-year journal article database and automated document delivery service using the BRS search engine. In addition, the new Sherman Fairchild Library of Engineering and Applied Science will be finished in late 1996.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications, with a minimum of $36,000 annually. Competitive benefits, including TIAA/CREF. For consideration, please send a letter of application with resume and the names and addresses of three references to:

Chair, Search Committee
Technical Reference Librarian for Physics and Astronomy

DIRECTOR OF LIBRARY SERVICES

University of North Carolina at Wilmington

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington invites applications and nominations for the position of Director of Library Services. The director provides planning and policy leadership for the university's print and electronic informational resources, oversight of 13 librarians and 23 support staff, and administration of an annual budget in excess of $2.5 million.

A 128,000-square-foot facility, the William Madison Randall Library contains more than 400,000 hardbound volumes, subscribes to more than 5,000 serial titles, maintains extensive journal backfiles in bound volumes and microformat, as well as a large collection of audiovisuals in a variety of formats, and is a full depository for all North Carolina documents and a partial depository for United States government publications. Connected to a high-speed fiber optic campus data network, the library provides access to the Internet and is the regional headquarters for a multiuniversity computer-based online catalog.

A young, dynamic, and growing regional university committed to total quality, UNC-Wilmington is a part of the 16-campus University of North Carolina system and currently enrolls more than 8,600 undergraduate and graduate students in arts and sciences, business, education, and nursing. Wilmington, a historic Atlantic seaport in southeastern North Carolina, offers an outstanding quality of life with many natural and cultural amenities.

The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of leadership and management in advancing innovative programs that respond to a changing technological and information environment, an understanding of the instructional and scholarly needs of students and faculty in a regional university setting, strong interpersonal and communication skills, and the ability to serve effectively as an advocate and spokesperson for the library's educational mission. Minimal qualifications include an ALA-accredited MLS degree, with a second master's degree in another subject field, and eight years of professional experience in an academic or special library, including five years in library administration. Preference will be given to candidates with an earned doctorate, a record of professional participation and scholarly contributions, and experience in developing external sources of support for the library.

Applications and nominations should be submitted immediately. Application review will begin January 1, 1996, and the position will remain open until filled, with an expected appointment effective July 1, 1996. Salary is competitive. Applicants should submit a letter of application, a current resume, and the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of at least three professional references to the following:

Chair, Randall Library Director Search Committee
Office of the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs
The University of North Carolina at Wilmington
Wilmington, NC 28403

UNCW is an EEO/AA employer. Minorities and women are particularly encouraged to apply.
REFERENCE LIBRARIAN (two positions). The American University Library invites applications for two tenure-track Reference Librarians at the rank of Assistant Librarian. These positions are subject to final budgetary approval. Responsibilities: Provide research assistance in an active department with a busy reference desk and in-demand outreach programs and services. Support and assist in user access to the online public catalog, networked and stand-alone compact disc databases, LEXIS/NEXIS, mediated databases, Internet, and other electronic resources. Design and teach library instruction sessions, prepare publications, participate in departmental planning processes. Build the collection as a subject selector and perform other reference responsibilities as assigned. Evening and weekend service required. Professional development and service to the university community expected. Requirements: ALA-accredited MLS. Reference experience and experience with electronic information resources including the Internet. Excellent communication skills. Ability to work independently and collegiately in a dynamic environment. Potential to meet tenure requirements in performing primary and secondary responsibilities, university and professional service. Preferred: Academic reference experience and library instruction experience. All subject backgrounds considered, with business or social sciences expertise preferred. Experience with interlibrary loan and/or document delivery also helpful. Salary: Commensurate with experience and qualifications. Position available: January 1, 1996. The American University, incorporated in 1893, offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs, many with international focus, to over 11,000 students. Its proximity to centers of politics, justice, world affairs, communication, science, business, and art in Washington, D.C., enhances the learning environment. The university library serves the university through a collection of over 635,000 volumes, 21 library faculty, 51 full-time staff plus over 100 student assistants, and a budget of over $4.7 million. The university is an active member of the Washington Research Library Consortium, with a shared NOTIS system that includes an online public catalog and 15 additional bibliographic databases. The Reference Department employs nine full-time library faculty and four support staff. Review of applications will begin November 15, 1995, and continue until position is filled. Send resume and names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three references to: Michele Mikkelsen, Personnel Officer, The American University Library, 4400 Massachusetts Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20016-8046. The American University is an AA/EEO university committed to a diverse student body, faculty, and staff. Minority and women candidates are encouraged to apply.

ARCHIVIST. Clarke Historical Library, Central Michigan University. Responsibilities: The Archivist, working under the supervision of the director of the Clarke Historical Library (CHL), will be responsible for appraising, arranging, and describing a wide-ranging body of historical manuscripts housed in the CHL. The CHL concentrates on documenting the history of Michigan and the Old Northwest Territory, with the bulk of its historical manuscripts documenting the state of Michigan. The CHL also serves as Central Michigan University's archives. Required qualifications: MLS from an ALA-accredited institution and formal training in archival theory and practice. Preferred qualifications: Professional experience working in an archive, experience with creating MARC-AMC records, experience using major bibliographic utilities, experience in digitization of source material, advanced degree in history or related field, knowledge of Michigan history, demonstrated publications record, and demonstrated written and verbal communication skills. Salary and fringe benefits: Position is a 12-month, tenure-track, faculty position. Minimum salary of $31,000 and excellent fringe-benefit package. To apply, send letter of application, resume, and names, titles, addresses, and telephone numbers of three references to: Chairperson, Selection Committee, 207 Park Library, Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, MI 48859. Position available in May 1996. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Review of applications will begin January 8, 1996. Central Michigan University (AA/EQ institution) encourages diversity and resolves to provide equal opportunity regardless of race, sex, disability, sexual orientation, or other irrelevant criteria. CMU is a state institution with an enrollment of approximately 16,000 on-campus students and an off-campus student body of about 12,000.
