CHIEF LIBRARIAN
Queensland Institute of Technology
Brisbane, Australia

Applications are invited for the position of Chief Librarian of the Institute. The Queensland Institute of Technology has 9,500 students in the schools of Business Studies, Engineering, Health Science, Applied Science, Computing Studies and Law. The campus is located in the central business district of the city of Brisbane.

The Institute Library presently comprises a collection of 150,000 monographs, 6,000 serial titles and an extensive collection of non-book materials. These closely reflect the teaching and research activities of the seven schools of the Institute. The collection is generally integrated and centralized, except for a separate library serving the School of Law.

The Institute Library comprises a staff of 59 full-time equivalents and for 1986 has a total budget of $2.6 million. Preliminary planning is underway for its extension into additional space in the same building in 1988 and beyond.

The Library has a high profile in the application and development of library technology, being full participant in the Australian Bibliographic Network, and running the Date Phase ALIS II System and Online Catalog. An advanced online reference service is a major feature of its present range of services.

The successful applicant will provide leadership in all areas of library management, including long-range strategic planning, all personnel and staff development matters, all aspects of financial support for Institute academic planning, and the provision of library support for Institute academic planning and research activities. Applicants should be conversant with the latest developments in library technology.

The position is graded at Head of School III at an annual salary of $AUS 53,130. Assistance will be provided to meet the costs of relocation.

HEAD OF PUBLIC SERVICES. Ohio Wesleyan University is seeking a dynamic and innovative librarian to fill the newly created position of Head of Public Services. This librarian will be responsible for the management, development, and supervision of staff and services of the following units: Circulation, Reference, Instruction, Online Searching, Microcomputer Services, Inter-Library Loan, Government Publications, and three branch libraries. This position supervises 8 staff workers (3 librarians) and works with staff from other library departments who devote time to other public service. The Head of Public Services will actively participate in two major ongoing projects: implementation of an integrated library system (LS/2000), and implementation of the activist "teaching library" philosophy into all aspects of library services. Additional duties include participation in the library management team; staffing the reference desk, including nights and weekends; and service as a liaison to faculty departments for the purpose of collection development, instruction, and online searching. Ohio Wesleyan University offers the collegial atmosphere of the liberal arts college committed to academic excellence, a library collection including over 400,000 volumes with a strong rare book collection and the second oldest Federal depository in the country, an integrated library system, and a commitment to an activist approach to library service. The new Head of Public Services will be offered the opportunity to make a major impact on services, to advance our planning and evaluation process, and to participate in the radical restructuring of the library. Qualifications: Master's degree in library science from an ALA-accredited program; minimum of 3 years experience in providing public services; demonstrated planning, supervisory, communication, and staff development skills; and a strong user-oriented philosophy. Experience in teaching, microcomputer applications, and/or automated library systems desirable; a background in science or social science preferred but not essential. 12 month librarian/faculty appointment, salary range $21,000-$23,000. Send letter of application, resume, and a statement of personal public service and management philosophy (no more than two pages, please), to: Kathleen Weibel, Director of Libraries, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, OH 43105. Applications will be accepted until July 18. Position will be filled by mid-August. An equal opportunity employer.

PUBLIC SERVICES LIBRARIANS (two). Ohio Wesleyan University is seeking two innovative librarians who will be responsible for the coordination and development of some combination of the following services: displays, online searching, inter-library loan, instruction, branches, microcomputer laboratory, special collections/rare books. In addition to managing these public services functions, under the guidance of the Head of Public Services, each librarian will staff the reference desk an average of 15 hours per week, including nights and weekends, and will serve as liaison to faculty departments for the purpose of collection development, instruction, and online searching. Ohio Wesleyan University offers the collegial atmosphere of the liberal arts college committed to academic excellence, a library collection including over 400,000 volumes with a strong rare book collection and the second oldest Federal depository in the country, an integrated library system, and a commitment to an activist approach to library service. Opportunities abound to make major impact on services and to participate in the radical restructuring of the library. Qualifications: Master's degree in library science from an ALA-accredited program; strong user-oriented philosophy; interest in gaining managerial experience; ability to plan and develop services; and strong communication skills. Teaching, bibliographic instruction experience, working knowledge of microcomputer applications and/or library automated systems desirable; a background in science or social science preferred but not essential. 12 month librarian/faculty appointment, usual benefits, salary range $17,500-$18,500, depending on qualifications. Send letter of application, resume, and 3 letters of reference to: Kathleen Weibel, Director of Libraries, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, OH 43105. Applications will be accepted until July 18. Positions will be filled by mid-August. An equal opportunity employer.

Telecommunication rates for library connections to nationwide bibliographic databases have continued to increase every few months, causing planning, paperwork, and cost problems. Although the Federal Communications Commission allowed new AT&T private line tariffs to take effect over a year ago, it is conducting a continuing investigation of the tariffs. Senate Communications Subcommittee member Larry Pressler (R-SD) delivered May 2 a letter with a total of 29 Senate signatures to FCC Chairman Mark Fowler on the problems continuing cost increases cause for libraries. On May 28 Chairman Fowler sent a lengthy response, which is being analyzed by Sen. Pressler's office.
