DEAN OF LIBRARIES

Mississippi State University invites applications and nominations for the position of Dean of Libraries.

Mississippi State University, located in Starkville, Mississippi, is a land-grant institution with the State's largest enrollment of over 14,000 students. Its nine schools and colleges have a strong commitment to teaching, research, and service. The University is among the top 100 research-funded institutions in the United States as defined by the National Science Foundation.

The recently completed 15 million dollar expansion of the library brings its total square footage to 200,000. The library has two branch libraries, one in the School of Architecture and one in the College of Veterinary Medicine. The University Library System contains a collection approximating 922,000 volumes and 1,326,000 processed items. The University Library staff consists of 55 full-time equivalent faculty/staff members and 100 part-time student assistants.

The Dean reports directly to the Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs, works closely with the university's nine colleges and schools and its 800 faculty members, is a member of the Dean's Council and meets with other appropriate academic and administrative councils. The Dean has administrative responsibility for library-wide planning and policy direction; for centralized library services such as acquisitions, budget, personnel, systems development and information services, and for fund-raising initiatives. The Dean of Libraries plays a university-wide leadership role in the development and implementation of information services in support of academic programs throughout the University.

The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of leadership and management in advancing innovative programs that respond to a changing technological and information environment, and an understanding of the instructional and scholarly needs of students and faculty in a research university setting. Candidates must have excellent communication skills and be able to establish and maintain effective relationships with University administration, faculty, staff, students and the extended community. Qualifications include an ALA-accredited MLS degree and eight years of professional experience in an academic library of which five years are in upper-level management. Other qualifications that might be considered are a second master's degree, a doctorate and evidence of ongoing professional development.

For priority consideration, applications and nominations should be submitted by March 1, 1997. The position will remain open until filled, with an expected appointment effective by July 1, 1997. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, a current resume, and the names, addresses and telephone numbers of at least three professional references to: Robert Leiter, Chair, Search Committee for Dean of Libraries, Mississippi State University, P.O. Box 5247, Mississippi State, MS 37962-5247; or contact Robert Leiter at rleiter@ce.msstate.edu http://www.msstate.edu for further information.

TECHNICAL REFERENCE LIBRARIANS FOR ENGINEERING AND APPLIED SCIENCES

The Caltech Library System seeks two self-motivated, enthusiastic, service-oriented librarians to provide information and subject expertise in engineering and applied sciences. One position is responsible for chemical, civil and environmental engineering and materials science. The second position is responsible for mechanical engineering, aeronautics, applied mathematics, applied mechanics and applied physics. The librarians maintain a strong working relationship with the faculty in the Engineering and Applied Sciences Division, the Library System administration, and the faculty of related departments and are responsible for collection development, in-person, telephone, and/or electronic mail information/reference service using print and online resources, and research reference encompassing in-depth consulting with graduate students and faculty.

The Librarians will participate in system-wide initiatives and will work in a multidisciplinary team environment to explore and promote applications of new information technologies including needs assessment, user education, evaluation of information in all formats, and special research projects. They are responsible and accountable for problem solving and are empowered with the authority to make decisions at appropriate levels. Both librarians report to the Director of Sherman Fairchild Library of Engineering and Applied Sciences.

Required qualifications:
ALA accredited MLS; undergraduate degree in relevant technical fields; excellent verbal and written communication skills; excellent interpersonal skills, including the ability to work with students, coworkers, faculty, and administrators. Clear and demonstrated knowledge of new technologies and their applications to enhancing user services; expertise in computer-based systems. The chemical-civil engineering position requires a strong chemistry background. Experience in civil engineering or environmental sciences is highly desirable. The mechanical-aeronautics engineering position requires a strong background in the physical sciences and related areas of engineering. Experience with technical report collections is highly desirable.

Preferred Qualifications:
3-5 years technical and/or research library experience using the literature and electronic resources in engineering and applied sciences. Demonstrated ability to devise new or improved products and services for a demanding, technologically sophisticated research-oriented clientele. Demonstrated commitment to continuous learning and professional development for oneself and for the team and active participation in the library profession.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications, with a minimum of $36,000 annually. Competitive benefits, including TIAA/CREF. For consideration, please send a letter of application with resume and the names and addresses of three references to Chair, Search Committee, Technical Reference Librarian for Engineering and Applied Sciences, Millikan 1-32, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, CA 91125. The position will remain open until filled. Caltech is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and disabled persons are encouraged to apply. First consideration will be given to applications received before February 15, 1997.

It is possible, right now, for you to provide your clients and patrons with the absolute finest in library services and support — and extend those services around the world. It's an incredible capability that comes standard with Unicorn, the world's most powerful library automation system. Unicorn was created in 1982 by SIRSI. From the beginning, the right decisions were made to ensure that Unicorn users would always be able to meet change head-on. UNIX™ would be the operating platform, CLIENT/SERVER would provide the architecture. Unicorn would be the perfect blend of power, versatility and adaptability. These early decisions are the reasons why Unicorn is today's continuous source for technological breakthroughs. SIRSI is the only vendor offering complete public and staff functionality for MS-Windows™ and Macintosh™ clients. SIRSI's award-winning WebCat™ is the first product to tap the Web's potential for delivering library catalogs and other Z39.50 databases to patrons around the world. Today, strategic alliances with customers such as Carnegie Mellon and other industry partners ensure that Unicorn and other SIRSI products continue to lead the industry. Tomorrow, there will be new breakthroughs. And Unicorn users will be the first to reap the rewards.
