ACRL wants you!
Here's your chance to volunteer

Now is a good time to increase your involvement in ACRL by volunteering to serve on a division or section committee. Vice-president Larry Hardesty invites all ACRL members to contact the Appointments Committee about serving on one of ACRL's 20 committees for next year. Members may also contact one of the section vice-chairs regarding service on one of the many section committees.

Committee members assist the association in implementing its strategic plan (available at http://www.ala.org/acrl/stratpla.html), reshaping the association, and influencing the direction of academic and research librarianship.

Factors influencing appointment
Although the emphasis in the appointment may vary from year to year according to the prerogatives of the president-elect and section chairs, the same factors are considered. They include:

- Evidence of potential committee member's interest: Have you attended the meetings and introduced yourself to the chair? Do you have previous experience that relates to the work of the committee? Have you indicated your interest on the volunteer form?
- Demographics and composition of committee: A balance is sought with respect to type of library (community college, college, or university), geographic representation, ethnic diversity, and gender.
- The recommendation of the current committee chair: Current committee chairs are asked to suggest potential members. Although all of these factors are considered, the final appointments are the prerogative of the ACRL president-elect and the section chair-elects.

How to apply
1) Select the committees that interest you. The ALA Handbook of Organization lists all of ACRL's committees and their charges. (Ed. note: The Handbook is published as a special issue of American Libraries and will automatically be mailed to all ALA members in mid-November.) Attend the committee's meetings at the Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference to help you decide if those are the activities that interest you.

2) Introduce yourself. Talk with committee members. Express your interest to the committee chair. Explain how you might contribute to the work of the committee.

3) Submit a volunteer form. Complete the volunteer form included with this article. (Ed. note: This form is also available on ACRL's homepage at http://www.ala.org/acrl.html.)

Be sure to cover all of the items asked for in background information section of the form. If you have attended committee meetings or programs, mention that. Fill out one form for ACRL division committees and a different form for each ACRL section you volunteer to serve on a committee for. Send the ACRL committee volunteer form to Lynn Chmelir at the address on the bottom of the volunteer form; send the section volunteer forms to the appropriate section chair-elects (see list of addresses below).

4) Volunteer again . . . and again. If you are not successful in being appointed one year, volunteer again the next year . . . and the next. Remember that a multitude of factors—number of appointments made, number of volunteers for each committee, number of volunteers from your type of library or your geographic area—determine the actual appointment, and these factors change from year to year.

ACRL divisional committee appointments

ACRL has 20 standing committees to which appointments may be made for 1998-99. A list appears on the volunteer form at the end of this article. You will find the committees listed with a description of their charges in the ALA Handbook of Organization. Appointments to ACRL standing committees are made in the spring for terms beginning immediately after the ALA Annual Conference. The Appointments Committee recommends to the president-elect of ACRL the names of members who might fill the vacancies. The president-elect makes the final appointments. If you want to be considered for an appointment to an ACRL committee, complete the form and return to Lynn Chmelir at the address given on the form before December 4, 1998.

Editorial boards

ACRL has editorial boards for these six publications: Choice, College & Research Libraries, College & Research Libraries News; New Publications, Publications in Librarianship, and Rare Books & Manuscripts Librarianship.

Appointments to editorial boards are made at the Midwinter Meeting for terms that begin immediately after the ALA Annual Conference. The editors recommend the name of a person to fill the vacancy. The Publications Committee must approve the recommendation, and the president of ACRL makes the appointment.

If you would like to be considered for appointment to an editorial board, contact the editor of the editorial board early in the fall.
