News From the Field

ACQUISITIONS

- The Sir Henry Irving collection of theater memorabilia was recently purchased by the University Library at the University of California, Santa Cruz from the estate of the late Professor Robert McNulty of UC, Berkeley. The collection is now housed primarily in UCSC's Special Collections for reference use by scholars and other interested individuals. The collection includes books by Irving, photographs, hand-written letters, biographies, prompt books, and programs.

- The University of Montreal libraries have acquired a 700-volume collection of architecture books from the estate of Mr. Louis-N. Audet, a Sherbrooke, Quebec architect. This collection consists mainly (80 percent) of books on the History of Architecture (Gothic and Renaissance); the rest of the collection covers different techniques of architecture. The Audet Collection will be available in the Architecture Library in the fall 1973.

- The Manuscript Collection of the Temple University libraries acquired a portion, 10-15,000 letters and documents, of the archives of the London publisher Constable and Company, spanning the years 1900-1955. The bulk of the collection consists of the author's correspondence with two of the directors, Otto Kyllmann and Michael Sadleir, representing close to 400 authors. Included are Hilaire Belloc, Havelock Ellis, George Santayana, E. M. Forster, Arthur Rackham, and George Bernard Shaw.

  The archives makes available extensive biographical, textual, and bibliographical information on the authors and their work. A register of the collection is in preparation.

- A 350 item collection of the writings of Richard Aldington has been donated to the Rare Book Collection of Temple University libraries by Mr. Frank G. Harrington. First, limited, and trade editions, proofs, and presentation copies offer a nearly complete bibliographical unit of the English novelist, biographer, translator, and Imagist poet. Letters and photographs are included, and a typescript of his story At All Costs (1930). A subcollection on American poet Hilda Doolittle is part of the collection and includes a copy of her translation of Euripides' Choruses from Iphigenia in Aulis with poetical pencil notations in the hand of Ezra Pound.

FELLOWSHIPS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

- In memory of Dr. Patricia B. Knapp who passed away November 19, 1972, the Patricia B. Knapp Award was established by Wayne State University, Department of Library Science, with contributions from Dr. Knapp's friends and colleagues. This award will be granted annually to a graduating master's student in library science. The first recipient is Mrs. Irene J. Savage who will complete her MSLS degree requirements in the winter quarter, 1973.

GRANTS

- The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation has awarded a grant of $20,000 to the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges to support a study of educational technology in selected community and junior colleges.

- The Associates of the National Agricultural Library, Inc., a new organization actively dedicated to fostering interest in the national and international programs of the National Agricultural Library, USDA, has received a one-year, $5,000 grant from The Rockefeller Foundation to aid foreign agriculturally-oriented scholars, trainees, and students in the library and information sciences studying in the United States.

- The Center for Research Libraries has been awarded a $450,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation to establish a journal lending library. Over a five-year period, CRL will add approximately 6,000 journal subscriptions to the 7,000 currently received. Details may be obtained on request to CRL, 5721 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, IL 60637.

- The National Endowment for the Humanities has made a grant of $57,790 to the Committee for a New England Bibliography Inc., to compile a Bibliography of New England History, which will bring under control for the first time the vast amount of historical materials dealing with New England. The editorial office will be located at Boston University, and the Harvard University Press will be the publisher.

- Grover M. Hermann of California has given the George Washington University library...
NONBOOK MATERIALS

The Organization of Integrated Collections, 1st Edition
Jean Riddle Weihs, Shirley Lewis, Janet Macdonald

in consultation with the CLA/ALA/AECT/EMAC/CAML Advisory Committee on the Cataloguing of Nonbook Materials

Here is the completely rewritten and updated edition of the preliminary work of 1970, including correspondence generated by that work and new research. The experience acquired from employing the Preliminary Edition's code has resulted in the expansion and/or revision of rules for such materials as:

- audiorecords (discs and tapes)
- charts
- dioramas
- filmstrips
- games
- globes
- maps
- microforms
- microscope slides
- models
- motion pictures
- realia
- transparencies

Also included in this edition are rules for cataloging videorecords and machine readable data files.

Rules are structured to permit both book and nonbook materials to appear in a unified list of holdings. The cataloging principles conform to Parts I and II of Anglo-American Cataloging Rules.

- A one-day "Books by Mail Service" conference on Saturday, June 23, 1973, in Las Vegas, Nevada, is being funded in part by a $1,500 Council on Library Resources grant to Indiana State University. Preceding the American Library Association annual conference of June 24-30 in Las Vegas, the meeting is expected to bring together approximately 150 public librarians who have had various forms of experience in using the U.S. mails for circulation of books and other library materials.

- A Council on Library Resources two-year matching grant of $70,300 to the New England Interstate Library Compact is assisting that six-state consortium to establish the New England Document Conservation Center. Initially the center will be a workshop where techniques of documentation, preservation, repair, and restoration will be applied to materials submitted for treatment by institutions in the six states.

- A five thousand dollar grant from the Zellerbach Family Fund of San Francisco has been received by the Women's History Research Center of Berkeley, California for the continuation of the Women's History Library, a unique archive of the present women's movement. This is the first grant the center has received from a major foundation, and it comes at a time when the library's lack of funds threatens its existence.

MEETINGS

March 26-27: Florida Atlantic University will host the International Conference on Management Problems in Serial Work on March 26-27, 1973. Among the topics explored will be: subscription agency services, periodical banks, computer applications, copyright problems, the future of scholarly journals, and many others. The speakers represent experts from major trend-setting institutions. Major subscription agencies and dealers will be represented from the United States and abroad. Early reservations are suggested. For brochure and registration form write to: Mr. Peter Spyers-Duran, Director of Libraries, Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton, FL 33432. (305) 395-5100, ext. 2448.

March 30-31: Hawaii Library Association. The Spring Conference of the Hawaii Library Association will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31, 1973 at the Hawaiian Regent Hotel in Honolulu.

April 9-10: Machine-Readable Information Systems. The problems of selection, utilization, and especially integration of the available machine-readable information services into individual systems and libraries are to be explored in the two-day seminar organized by the National Federation of Abstracting and Indexing Services and the Graduate School of Library Science, Drexel University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The seminar will be held at Drexel Activities Center on April 9 and 10, 1973. Full details from the National Federation of Abstracting and Indexing Services, 3401 Market St., Philadelphia, PA 19104; and from Dr. Barbara Flood, Graduate School of Library Science, Drexel University, Rush Building, Philadelphia, PA 19104. Consult the January News for further information.

April 9-10: Management Education. The University of Chicago Graduate Library School will present its 36th annual conference on Management Education: Implications for Libraries and Library Schools. The structure of the conference is based upon an initial examination of recent and projected trends in graduate education in management, the problems of incorporating new and changing concepts into professional education in management, the needs and approaches in two nonprofit institutional areas including librarianship, and the general problems of transferability of management skills from one institutional environment to another. The papers of the conference will be published in the Library Quarterly and in bound form as part of the Graduate Library School's monographic series The University of Chicago Studies in Library Science.

April 11-12: Resource Sharing in Libraries. Presidents and librarians from Pennsylvanian colleges and universities will meet in a unique conference on "Resource Sharing in Libraries" at the University of Pittsburgh.

Sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities, the Pittsburgh Council on Higher Education, and the Pittsburgh Regional Library Center, the program is being coordinated by Pitt's Office of Communications Programs under a grant from the Buhl Foundation. The conference is a novel opportunity for top administrators to compare notes with librarians on developing plans for institutions of higher education to cut the cost of library services by sharing resources.

Four topics will be discussed: reasons for sharing library resources; opportunities for cooperation in the areas of acquisition, processing, storage, and delivery of services; current cooperative programs in other states; and ways of establishing successful, lower cost cooperative services. Further information, and registrations, are available from Professor Allen Kent,
April 16-17: Censorship. Pressure groups and would be censors who try to tell libraries what books and other library materials are fit for public consumption will be put in the spotlight at a national meeting in Chicago, April 16 and 17, 1973.

A representative group of librarians and resource persons will participate in a national prototype workshop on intellectual freedom sponsored by the Intellectual Freedom Committee of the American Library Association. The workshop is funded by the annual J. Morris Jones-World Book Encyclopedia-ALA Goals Award, of which the International Freedom Committee was a winner this year. Consult the January News for further details.

April 18: A Legal Bibliography Institute, sponsored by the Southwestern Chapter of the American Association of Law Libraries will be held on Wednesday, April 18, 1973, at the La Fonda Hotel, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The Southwestern Chapter covers the states of Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas. The 1972 institute on the Library of Congress Classification Scheme drew participants from the nine member states, California, the District of Columbia, Iowa, and Kentucky.

The 1973 institute has two aims: to act as a refresher course for experienced practicing librarians and as an introduction to the standard information tools and their use for either librarians beginning in the legal field or those in the legal field wanting to improve their information and research skills, for example, legal researchers and legal secretaries. The institute includes both federal and state materials.

For registration or further information contact: Mrs. Isabella Hopkins, Criminal Justice Reference Library, 2500 Red River, Austin, TX 78705. (512) 471-3238.

April 19: Media Integration in Academic Libraries is the subject of the 1973 Institute of the Library Association of the City University of New York. To be held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in New York City on April 19, the Institute, open to librarians, interested students, faculty, and administrators, will feature presentations by James F. Holly, dean of library services, the Evergreen State College, Olympia, Washington; Dr. Estelle Jussim, assistant professor of library services, Simmons College, School of Library Science; Mrs. Shirley Lewis, director of library services, Cooperative Book Centre of Canada, Ltd., Toronto, Canada; and Richard L. Ducote, dean of learning resources, Learning Resources Center, College of DuPage, Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

For further information, please get in touch with Betty Seifert, City College Library, 135th St. and Convent Ave., New York, NY 10031. Phone: (212) 621-2268.

April 24-25: Dewey 18. The Eighteenth Edition of the Dewey Decimal Classification will be the focus of the 1973 Colloquium of the School of Library and Information Science at the State University of New York at Albany. Directed by Gordon Stevenson of the Albany faculty, the Colloquium, fifth in an annual series, will feature invited papers dealing with theoretical and practical problems in the use of the DC both as a system for organizing classified catalogs and as a shelving system.

John P. Comaromi of Western Michigan University will present a paper on the historical evolution of the system, and a paper by David Batty of McGill University will examine the system in the light of present problems of general classification. Joel C. Downing will discuss the experience of the British National Bibliography with the Decimal Classification. Other papers and panel discussions will deal with the new DC index and its potential use in computerized retrieval systems and with methods of evaluating the effectiveness of the Dewey Classification.

Details on the Colloquium can be obtained from Professor Gordon Stevenson, School of Library and Information Science, State University of New York at Albany, Albany, NY 12222.

April 26-27: The Rio Grande Chapter of the Special Libraries Association will sponsor a regional workshop on the subject of dealing with translations in libraries. The workshop will be held in Albuquerque, New Mexico, on April 26-27, 1973. Topics to be covered will include the use of bibliographic tools in locating existing translations, ordering procedures for both translated material and foreign language source material, and procedures for having original translations performed. Emphasis will be on the subject areas of science and technology. Additional information may be obtained from: Mrs. Ann H. Beyer, Reference Librarian, Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, P. O. Box 1663, Los Alamos, NM 87544. (505) 667-4175.

April 26-27: ASIS Mid-Year Conference. The Second Mid-Year Regional Conference of the American Society for Information will be held April 26-27, 1973, at the Sheraton Motor Inn in Bloomington, Minnesota. The conference will be combined with the Fourth Symposium sponsored by the Minnesota Chapters of ASIS and the Special Libraries Association. The theme of the joint meeting will be "Forecast for Information Service: a colloquium surveying the state-of-the-art, research, and educational..."
implications for library-information systems specialists."

The tentative registration fee for the joint meeting is $45. For further information, contact Jack King, Library, Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101. Phone: (612) 641-2373.

April 26-28: Junior College Librarians. The 8th Annual Conference, Junior College Libraries, will be held on April 26-28, 1973 at Rock Valley College, Rockford, Illinois. The theme will be: "The Junior College Library Reaches Out."

April 28: Ethnic Studies Research. On Saturday, April 28, 1973, a conference with the theme "Ethnic Studies: Sources for Research" will be held on the Lincoln Park campus of De Paul University, 2323 North Seminary Street, Chicago. It is being sponsored by the Society of American Archivists, National Archives and Records Service, and De Paul University. A registration fee of $5.00 will be charged for lunch and program expenses.

The morning session will consist of two papers on the ethnic studies resources deposited in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. and on the documentation available in the Chicago Federal Archives and Records Center. In the afternoon, a panel of several representatives from institutions in the North Central states will describe their holdings and facilities and comment on the use researchers have made of them. For a copy of the printed program, write to the Federal Archives and Records Center, 7201 S. Leamington Ave., Chicago, IL 60638 or call 312-353-1123.

April 29-May 3, 1973: Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, West Indies will be the site of the Eighteenth Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials, April 29-May 3, 1973. The Library Association of Trinidad and Tobago and the University of the West Indies, St. Augustine Campus, will be cohosts for the seminar.

Registration in the Eighteenth Seminar is $15.00 for members of SALALM and $25.00 for nonmembers. The conference coordinator is Ms. Irma Hannays, Librarian, Industrial Development Corporation, Salvatori Building, P.O. Box 949, Port-of-Spain, Trinidad. Information on the content of the program and working papers may be procured from Donald F. Wisdom, Serial Division, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20540. For other information, refer to the Executive Secretary, Ms. Marietta Daniels Shepard, Organization of American States, Washington, DC 20006. Consult the November News for further details.

May 3-4, 1973: Changing Patterns in Information Retrieval will be the theme of the tenth annual National Information Retrieval Colloquium, to be held May 3 and 4, 1973, at the Independence Mall Holiday Inn, 400 Arch St., Philadelphia, PA 19106.

Chairwoman of the tenth NIRC is Carol Feichel, Auerbach Associates. For program and registration information, contact Susan Nickleach, P.O. Box 15847, Philadelphia, PA 19103, (215) 561-4100. The December News contains further details.

May 3-4: Library Orientation will be the central theme for the Third Annual Conference on Library Orientation for Academic Libraries to be held on Thursday and Friday, May 3 and 4, 1973, at Eastern Michigan University. The program will have a workshop format with group discussions of topics such as: beginning a new program, developing faculty cooperation, designing new methods and materials, and evaluating library instruction.

Librarians, administrators, faculty, and students are encouraged to attend. For further information, contact: Sul H. Lee, Acting Director of the Library, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, MI 48197.

May 10-12: The fourth annual seminar on Management Concepts for Librarians, sponsored by the graduate School of Business Administration and Washington University libraries will be held May 10, 11, 12, 1973, at Bromwoods, the residential conference center of Washington University, located sixty miles southwest of the St. Louis Metropolitan area.

Registration is limited to thirty-five on a first-come first-served basis. The $145 fee covers all instructional costs, materials, meals, and lodging while at Bromwoods. For information please telephone William H. Kurth, Washington University Librarian, 314-863-0100, extension 4523 or Mrs. Marilyn Pryor, The School of Continuing Education, Washington University, extension 4261. Consult the January News for further details.

May 18-19, 1973: The Midwest Academic Librarians Conference (MALC) will hold its eighteenth annual meeting on May 18 and 19 at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. The theme for the conference is, "The Library's Role in the Teaching Process," and will include discussion meetings on the college and university settings for AV materials, archives, museums, cooperative activities, etc.

MALC is a nonstructured and informal gathering of professional academic librarians who meet annually on the site of a newly constructed building without dues or membership fees. All librarians are welcome.

Conference local arrangements chairman is Mr. Oivind Hovde, Librarian, Luther College, Decorah, IA 52101.

July 11-13: Pharmacy Librarians. The Librarians Section will meet with the Teachers Seminar of the American Associations of Colleges of Pharmacy at the University of Georgia Center for Continuing Education, Athens, Georgia. Contact Dr. Albert Jowdy, University of Georgia School of Pharmacy for reservation forms.

July 15-27: Administrative Development. The School of Library and Information Services, University of Maryland, is planning the seventh annual Library Administrators Development Program to be held July 15-27, 1973. Dr. John Rizzo, professor of management at Western Michigan University, will serve as the director. Consult the December News for more complete information.

The editors of the News wish to express their sorrow over the death of Patricia Knapp on November 19 and of Arthur McAnally on December 1. We are all lessened by the passing of these two leading philosophers of academic librarianship.

Now for the first time, library patrons everywhere can have access to the most comprehensive information system ever assembled in the field of transportation.

By special arrangement with the U.S. Historical Document the Departmental Library’s

For social, economic, and environmental impact, few aspects of modern civilization affect our daily lives as profoundly as Transportation.

During the past fifty years, the U.S. transportation industry has brought phenomenal changes to this country as the value of its goods and services rose to an estimated 20% of our Gross National Product. The significance of these past changes however, can only be matched by the many challenges which face the industry in the immediate future. How these problems and prospects are met will be major factors in determining not only the future strength of our economy, but also the structure of our society, and the quality of our environment.

Transportation Masterfile 1921-1971 brings together in one collection, descriptive references to the mass of periodical literature on developments in all phases of transportation during this vital half century. Not only does it contain detailed coverage of today’s transportation problems, but also it reports on current research projects and advance planning activities from which future solutions may emerge.

SCOPE OF COVERAGE

As a primary goal of the Department of Transportation is the establishment of a balanced total system for the country, all modes are covered and compared in Transportation Masterfile. These include: highways and motor vehicles, aviation, railroads, inland waterways, ocean shipping, and pipelines, as well as new and experimental and multi-mode systems.

The variety of coverage is indicated by such typical subject headings as: Accidents (by types), Aerial Photography, Air Pollution, Airport Design, Bicycles, Bridges, City Planning, Concrete, Dams, Equipment (types), Expressways, Financing, Federal Aid, Gasoline, and hundreds more.

The collection’s variety and international scope are further illustrated in this small sample of titles to current periodicals covered: Acier (Belgium) Air Pollution Control, Australian Road Research, Automotive News, Automobile Industry Review, Transportation, the Week and Space Technology, Carrierees (Spain), Civil Engineering, Concrete (UK), Electronics Engineering Journal (Canada), Experimental Mechanics, FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Human Factors, International Journal of Automotive Engineering, Journal of Railway Age, Road International (Switzerland), SAE Journal, Seaway Review, State Government, Strasse und Autobahn (Germany), Tax Administrators News, Travaux (France), Urban Land, and Wegen (Netherlands).

Transportation Masterfile 1921-1971 is recommended for purchase by the libraries and information centers of large companies in transportation related industries, as well as government offices, public libraries, and education institutions.

Academic libraries particularly, should find Transportation Masterfile a most valuable self-contained reference tool, in that as its arrangement (chronologically by subject) can save many hours of search effort for both students and librarians. The depth and size and scope provide comprehensive reference support to such courses as:

Aerospace Technology
Business Administration
Civil Engineering
Earth Sciences
Economics
Ecology
Geography

Government
History
Law
Marketing & Distribution
Mechanical Engineering
Money and Banking
Petroleum Engineering

Police Science
Political Science
Real Estate
Sociology
Surveying and Mapping
Transportation
Urban Studies

The special emphasis of the collection however, is on the literature covering highways and motor vehicles. This seems appropriate when it is considered that the more than 100 million vehicles now operating in this country (one for every two persons); 1. account for an overwhelming majority of passenger miles traveled (88% of inter-city and 97% of urban area travel); 2. are responsible for 94% of all transportation fatalities (more than 1,000 per week); and 3. emit 44.5% of the total pollutants entering the nation’s atmosphere.
the U.S. Department of Transportation Institute announces the dual-media publication of unique and previously unavailable reference collection . . .

TRANSPORTATION MASTERFILE, 1921-1971

...the massive accumulation on microfilm of 700,000 abstracts and annotated references to the technical and non-technical periodical literature on all modes of transportation.

...arranged by Subject under thousands of headings and subheadings (and chronologically in Subject)—truly a self-contained reference set.

...represents hundreds of thousands of hours of analysis, indexing, and clerical work by personnel of DOT and its predecessors over a 50 year period.

IN MICROFILM

...the complete collection of 700,000 abstracts and annotated entries is contained on 140 16mm reels or cartridges. (35mm are available at a slightly higher price). Entries are arranged alphabetically by major subject headings and chronologically within subject headings and subheadings, just as they are in the Departmental Library in Washington, D.C.

Preparation was carried out in the Library using planetary spindles to ensure clarity. Images are filmed with the text parallel to the length of the reels in order that inexpensive microfilm viewers (not having image rotators) can be used without turning them on their sides.

Prevalved contents of each reel are printed on its carton for ease of access, and the chronological arrangement of entries under each subject heading facilitates sequential browsing.

IN BOOK FORM

These two hardcover bibliographic aids are offered without extra charge as part of the collection. They may also be purchased without the microfilm.

Volume II. Subject Headings in “Transportation Masterfile, 1921-1971” Part One (Hierarchical). All major headings are arranged alphabetically with the sub-headings listed under them hierarchically as they appear on the microfilm. Reel numbers are given for each. Part Two (Single-Alphabet). All subject terms used in the collection (including various levels of sub-headings) are listed in single alphabet sequence with microfilm reel numbers given for each.

PARNASSUS REVISITED
Modern Criticism and the Epic Tradition

Anthony C. Yu, editor

In this vital and stimulating anthology, eighteen distinguished critics, representing the best of modern scholarship, examine the nature of the epic. Among the contributors are C. S. Lewis, E. M. W. Tillyard, Northrop Frye, Erich Auerbach, Simone Weil, C. M. Bowra, and George Steiner. Professor Yu's selections from their works focus upon the important analytical tools which these critics have devised to study and clarify the epic poetry of the Western world.

• Stanford University library has announced the availability of the following publications produced by them during the previous year.

A Survey of Library Material Expenditures at Stanford University Libraries, prepared by Fred Lynden, of the acquisition department, focuses on two important objectives: the extent to which the cost of obtaining scholarly publications has been increasing and the degree to which the volume of scholarly publications grows annually. Because of the general importance of this type of study, it is being made available to other libraries at a cost of $6.00.

A second major report prepared by the director of the Stanford University libraries, entitled Working Paper on the Future of Library Automation at Stanford, issued last year, was a full review of the Stanford Library automation system, including background, design, and application of the system, cost implications, summary of benefits, limitations, and disadvantages, and general assessment of the system. Because of outside interest it is being made available at a price of $9.00.

A catalog of the Kolb collection of portrait prints at Stanford has been published by the Stanford University libraries. The catalog covering 1,647 portrait prints of famous subjects including rulers, statesmen, authors, scholars, and other personages from ancient times to the nineteenth century is an important resource for general historical studies. The 373-page catalog is available at price of $18.00.

The fifth edition of the Audio Catalog of the J. Henry Meyer Memorial Library has just been printed. The catalog, listing over 4,000 discs and tapes, is designed to be an up-to-date, well-balanced collection of spoken word and music recordings to meet the instructional needs of an undergraduate library. The two volume set (author-title, subject volumes) is available at a price of $150.00.

The Supplement to the Book Catalog of the J. Henry Meyer Memorial Library which updates the 1971 edition of the Book Catalog lists by author-title and subject over 6,000 titles added to the catalog since April 1971. Price of the Supplement is $30.00.
