Garrett Bowles, head of the Music Library at the University of California, San Diego, has been awarded the 1992 Eva Judd O'Meara Award for the best review article to appear in NOTES during the previous year. His article, "Music Notation Software for the IBM-PC," appeared in NOTES in March 1990 and was cited as "valuable in general for its assessment of music representation software and as a 'buyer's guide' in a relatively new product area. Beyond this, however, the review makes a major contribution to the establishment of critical standards and an evaluative methodology for this particular technology."

Victor Cardell, head of the Archive of Popular American Music at the University of California, Los Angeles; Beth Christensen, music librarian and acting director of the library at St. Olaf College; and Carol Tatian, music librarian at Brown University, have been elected members-at-large of the Music Library Association's Board of Directors. They met with continuing members of the board at the MLA annual meeting in February and officially assumed office at the end of the conference.

Judith Harwood, undergraduate librarian at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale (SIUC), has been appointed director of undergraduate instructional services there. She joined the SIUC staff in 1969 as assistant serials librarian, became assistant undergraduate librarian in 1970, and has been in her current position since 1971. She has also worked at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, and at Parkland College.

Harwood is also the recipient of the 1992 Illinois Academic Librarian of the Year Award given at the annual meeting of the Illinois Library Association (ILA) in Chicago on March 19. Harwood has been active for many years in ILA and the Illinois Association of College and Research Libraries (IACRL), serving as vice-president of ILA and president of IACRL. She has also chaired the ILA Poster Session Committee, been a member of the Legislative/Library Development Committee of ILA, and served on the IACRL Bibliographic Instruction Committee.

Richard Griscom, head of the Dwight Anderson Music Library at the University of Louisville, was appointed executive secretary of the Music Library Association at the MLA annual meeting in Baltimore, Maryland, last February. Griscom has served MLA as a member of the Board of Directors, as fiscal officer, and as a member of various committees and working groups.

Edward G. Holley, William Rand Kenan Jr. professor of library and information science at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, has been honored by two national associations. The Southeastern Library Association gave Holley the Mary Utopia Rothrock Award on March 20 "to honor a librarian who has contributed substantially to the furtherance of librarianship in the Southeast during a career." In addition, on June 10 the Special Libraries Association will award Holley honorary membership in the association in honor of his "exceptional service to special librarianship." Nomination for Holley came from North Carolina special librarians who recognized his initiative in establishing the School of Information and Library Science-Environmental Protection Agency Internship Program 18 years ago.

Amy Job, acting head of technical services at the Askew Library of William Paterson Col-
More ACRL award winners

Essay on intellectual freedom wins K.G. Saur Award

"The Library as a Marketplace of Ideas," an article by Ronald J. Heckart, librarian at the Institute of Governmental Studies Library, University of California, Berkeley, which appeared in the November 1991 issue of C&RL, has been named the winner of the K.G. Saur Award for Best College and Research Libraries Article. The award was established to recognize the most outstanding article published in C&RL during the preceding volume year.

Anne Woodsworth, chair of the award jury, said, "Ronald Heckart's thoughtful essay on intellectual freedom is timely and important for librarians in the 1990s. Global political and economic changes are highlighting access to information as a critical counterweight in the democratic system. In this context, his theoretical analysis is a powerful argument for the profession to reassess its social responsibilities." The article takes a broad analytical view of intellectual freedom using the concept of the marketplace of ideas and identifies the strengths and weaknesses of intellectual freedom as an ethical cornerstone of the profession. Heckart will receive a $500 award and a plaque, donated by K.G. Saur publishing company, that will be presented at the ACRL President's Program in San Francisco on Monday, June 29, 1992.

Eric Johnson to receive Samuel Lazerow Fellowship

Eric A. Johnson, senior Soviet exchange specialist, Exchange and Gift Division, Library of Congress, is the recipient of the Samuel Lazerow Fellowship for Research in Acquisitions or Technical Services in an Academic or Research Library. The $1,000 fellowship is donated annually by the Institute for Scientific Information to foster advances in acquisitions or technical services.

"Current events have put traditional methods of acquiring Slavic materials in jeopardy. Johnson's proposal takes advantage of a historic window of opportunity to begin a new geography of formerly Soviet materials," said Betty Landesman, chair of the award jury. "It is hoped that the results of the study and evaluation of the services of the Bibkollektor agency will assist academic and research libraries in the United States to navigate the shoals of the acquisition of these materials in the wake of economic and political change." The award will be presented at the ACRL President's Program in San Francisco, Monday, June 29, 1992.

College of New Jersey, received the 1991 Distinguished Service Award from the College and University Section of the New Jersey Library Association (NJLA). The award is presented yearly to an individual who "by his or her outstanding contributions has directly enriched the librarianship of higher education in New Jersey." Job conceived and coordinated the traveling exhibit commemorating the centennial of the NJLA, has produced several bibliographies highlighting New Jersey history materials, and is president-elect of the Technical Services Section of NJLA.

Michael Ochs, senior lecturer on music and librarian of the Eda Kuhn Loeb Music Library at Harvard University, was elected vice-president/president-elect of the Music Library Association at the MLA annual convention in Baltimore last February. He will hold the position for one year, then become president for two years. Ochs holds the first named chair of music librarianship in the United States, the Richard F. French Chair in Music Librarianship.

Appointments

(Appointment notices are taken from library newsletters, letters from personnel offices and appointees, and other sources. To ensure that your appointment appears, write to the Editor, C&RL News, 50 E. Huron, Chicago, IL 60611-2795.)

David Koch, curator of special collections and university archivist at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale (SIUC), has been appointed director of special collections and development there. Previously, he was rare book librarian at SIUC from 1970–1980. He began his career as a journalist with the Dayton (Ohio) Journal Herald, then was an original member of the Wright State University English Department and a founding member of the Mad River Review. He holds degrees from Depauw University and SIUC.

Jay Starratt, assistant director of library services at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale (SIUC), has been appointed director of automation and technical services there. He was previously assistant director for administrative services at the University of Nebraska, Omaha, and has held positions at Emory University. He has served on the ACRL Academic Library Statistics Committee and was chair of the ACRL Public Relations in Academic Libraries Discussion Group.

Stephanie D. Tolson, former coordinator of cataloging services with the St. Louis Community College District, has been appointed director of library services at St. Louis Community College, Florissant Valley Campus. Tolson currently serves as chair of the Cataloging Committee for the Special Libraries Association, and was instrumental in establishing a St. Louis chapter of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women. She has a bachelor's degree from Park College in Kansas City and an MLS from Emporia Kansas State University.

Delmus Williams, director of libraries at the University of Alabama, Huntsville, has been appointed dean of university libraries at the University of Akron, Ohio. Williams previously worked at Western Illinois University in Macomb where he oversaw major building, collection, and automation initiatives and participated in regional and state cooperative activity that led to a statewide library computer-based bibliographic record and delivery system. Williams has also published articles and book chapters, taught librarianship, and been an active member of the profession.

Maryanne P. Blake has been named outreach services coordinator, Health Sciences Library and Information Center, University of Washington, Seattle.

Holly J. Borne has been appointed associate music and fine arts librarian at Butler University, Indianapolis.

Robert C. Brown has been named assistant archives librarian at the Oklahoma State University Libraries.

Nancy Buchanan is now staff instruction librarian at Sterling C. Evans Library, Texas A&M University, College Station.

Eric Celeste has been appointed head of serials copy cataloging and record maintenance at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Libraries.

Nancy Chaffin has been appointed original cataloger at Sterling C. Evans Library, Texas A&M University, College Station.

Jane Conrow has been appointed associate dean for library services at Arizona State University, Tempe.

Pamela A. Cooper-Fedler has been appointed development and external relations officer at the Texas Tech University Libraries, Lubbock.

Joan Cottone has been promoted to head of cataloging at the State University of New York at Geneseo.

Ronald W. Crown has joined the Pius XII Memorial Library at Saint Louis University as reference librarian, specialist in theology.

Kathleen S. Cullen has been appointed director of development at the James J. Hill Reference Library, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Suzanne Dodson has been named facilities planning librarian at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Andrea Duda has been named science reference librarian at the University of California, Santa Barbara, Library.

Emily Gallup Fayen has been named senior consultant at the IME Group, Boston.

Robert E. Follett has been appointed head music librarian at the University of Arizona Library, Tucson.

Rick Gates has been named director of library automation at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Joan Grant is now director of collection services at New York University.

Charlene G. Grass is now assistant university librarian for automation and technical services at the Oregon State University Libraries, Corvallis.

Anne Hartmere has been appointed head of the newly formed Unified Arts, Architecture and Urban Planning Library at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Lynne M. Hayman is now assistant director for the California Newspaper Project, Center for Bibliographic Studies and Research at the University of California, Riverside.

Nancy C. Kranich is now associate dean of the libraries at New York University.

Brigitte Kueppers is now the arts, architecture and urban planning special collections librarian at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Lorna Lueck is the new social science reference librarian at the University of California, Santa Barbara, Library.

Paul MacLean has been named government documents librarian at the State University of New York at Geneseo.

Elena Miller has been named senior science reference librarian at Sterling C. Evans Library, Texas A&M University, College Station.

Janet A. Neese has been named acting director of College Libraries at the State University of New York at Geneseo.

Brian Owen is now systems manager at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Tym Parsons has been named assistant documents librarian at the Oklahoma State University Libraries.

Martha Reynolds has been named managing librarian at the Fraser Branch Library of the State University of New York at Geneseo.

Richard Richie has accepted a one-year appointment as assistant librarian/Southeast Asian bibliographer at Arizona State University, Tempe.

Sally Scott is now science reference librarian at the University of Wyoming, Laramie.

Stephanie L. Smith has been appointed Balcones librarian in the Engineering Library at the University of Texas at Austin.

Raymond Soto has been named theater arts librarian in the newly formed Arts, Architecture and Urban Planning Library at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Betsaida Vélez-Natal has been appointed assistant professor at the School of Library and Information Science, University of Puerto Rico, Río Piedras Campus.

Karen Weihorski is now head of the Central Reference Department at Sterling C. Evans Library, Texas A&M University, College Station.

Anita Whitehead has been appointed senior assistant librarian at the State University of New York at Geneseo.

Julie Stevens has been named undergraduate library services coordinator at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

James Stickman has been appointed head of the Serials Division, Suzzallo Library, University of Washington, Seattle.

Peter Cupery has been appointed information services librarian at the School of Education Instructional Materials Center, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Sheryl J. Davis has been appointed preservation officer and assistant to the university librarian at the University of California, Riverside.

Retirements

Catherine Carter, associate librarian and principal cataloger at Penn State University, retired recently after 37 years of service. Carter joined the University Libraries as assistant catalog librarian then was promoted to senior assistant librarian in 1967. She was promoted to associate librarian in 1969.

Ture Erickson, reference librarian in the Humanities and Social Sciences Division at the University of British Columbia, retired at the end of 1991. He was first appointed in 1964, then became head of Sedgewick Undergraduate Library in 1965 and held that position until 1985.

Guy Garrison, the Alice B. Kroeger professor of information studies at Drexel University, retired in December after 38 years in the library profession. Garrison served as dean of the College of Information Studies at Drexel. from 1968–87 before being appointed to the Kroeger professorship. His career began at the Oak Park (Ill.) Public Library where he held the positions of branch librarian, head of reference, and assistant director. From 1958–60 he held a doctoral fellowship at the University of Illinois (UI), then spent two years as head of reader services at the Kansas City (Mo.) Public Library, then returned to UI as a faculty member. As director of the Library Research Center in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science at UI, he headed one of the first organized research units in a library school. A life member of ALA, Garrison served four years on the ALA Council and was a member of several visiting teams for ALA’s Committee on Accreditation.

Belver Griffith, professor of information studies at Drexel University, retired in December after 22 years on the faculty. Griffith previously worked as associate director and director of the American Psychological Association Project on Scientific Information Exchange in Psychology. While at Drexel, he served in advisory positions to the National Institutes of Health, National Science Foundation, and the British Library, among others. He has lectured in at least 10 foreign countries, and consulted in 1991 at the Technology Foundation in Utrecht, The Netherlands, and at the Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Russia.

Griffith’s awards include the Drexel University Research Achievement Award (1980), the Outstanding Information Science Teacher Award of the American Society for Information Science (1982), and the New Jersey ASIS Distinguished Lectureship Award (1987). He holds a B.A. in psychology from the University of Virginia and an M.A. and Ph.D. in experimental psychology from the University of Connecticut.

Donald C. Henderson Jr., associate librarian in Hispanic collections and services at Penn State University, retired recently after 22 years of service. He joined the University Libraries as head of the Hispanic Library Program.

Guy Garrison

Helen Knight has retired as university archivist at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green.

Elizabeth Laney, librarian of the Information and Library Science Library at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (UNC-CH) since 1984, retired October 31, 1991. Laney served as a school librarian, director of a public library, and directed library operations for two North Carolina state units before joining UNC-CH. She is a graduate of UNC-Greensboro and received her MLS from UNC-CH in 1973.

Reg Laswell has retired as head of the Department of Library Automation and Technical Services at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green.

Adelaide LaVerdi, head of cataloging at the State University of New York at Geneseo, retired on April 8 after 33 years of service.

Vladimir Micuda, chief of the Science and Technology Libraries at Penn State University, retired recently after 25 years of service. He began his career with the University Libraries as an agricultural and biological science librarian, and held the position of acting assistant dean and head of the Reference and Instructional Services Division in 1989.

David W. Parish, government documents librarian at the State University of New York at Geneseo, retired in August 1991 after 25 years of service.

Richard C. Quick retired at the end of 1991 after 24 years as director of college libraries at the State University of New York at Geneseo.

Mary Ellen State retired in March as libraries personnel officer at the State University of New York at Buffalo after more than 15 years in that position and over 22 years at the university.

Annie Yandle, head of the Special Collections Division and University Archives at the University of British Columbia (UBC), retired at the end of 1991 after 30 years of service. She began working at UBC in 1961 and became head of the division in 1966. She was responsible for developing UBC’s collection of printed and manuscript materials relating primarily to Canada, British Columbia, and the Pacific Northwest.

May 1992 / 349

Deaths

Charles Marshall Adams, librarian emeritus at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (UNC-G), and past-president of ACRL (1950–1951), died December 8, 1991, at the age of 83. Adams received his bachelor's degree from Amherst College in 1929 and went on to obtain his master's degrees in English and library science from Columbia University. From 1934 to 1938 he worked at the New York Public Library, then was assistant to the director and librarian in charge of special collections at Columbia University from 1938 to 1945. In 1945 he became director of the library at UNC-G, resigning in 1969 to become director of the Sinclair Library at the University of Hawaii, where he served until his retirement in 1973. In 1978 he was awarded an honorary doctorate in humane letters by UNC-G.

The author of many professional articles and reviews, Adams was also a distinguished bookman. His collection of the works of Randall Jarrell and writers of the Southern Appalachians were given to the Amherst College Library.

May Domin, former university archivist at the University of California, Berkeley, died on February 19 at the age of 94. Domin received her master's in history at UC-Berkeley in 1922, six years after joining the library as a student assistant in the Catalog Department. She later became senior assistant in the department, then was appointed university archivist in 1949 and held that position until her retirement in 1964. After retiring, Domin co-authored A Pictorial History of the University of California and assumed responsibility for many articles in The Centennial Record, both published in 1968.

Abbot Fidelis James Dunlap, former librarian and library director at Saint Leo College (SLC) in Florida, died March 25 at the age of 66. Dunlap earned his MLS in 1957 from Catholic University of America. After serving as library director at SLC, he was appointed executive vice-president of the college, was a member of the Board of Trustees, and became fourth Abbot of Saint Leo Abbey from 1970 to 1985.

Margie May Helm, former head librarian at Western Kentucky University (WKU), died on December 19, 1991, at the age of 97. Helm began her career at WKU in 1920, then became head librarian in 1923 and held that position until her retirement in 1965. Active in the profession, she served as president of the Kentucky Library Association in 1929, was one of the founders of the Bowling Green Public Library, and was a member of the State Board for the Certification of Librarians from 1938 to 1955. She also contributed scholarly articles to Library Quarterly, Library Journal, and the Kentucky School Journal. Proud of her profession, Helm once said, "I believe in reading as a form of education and of elimination of racial and other prejudices. Knowledge of other peoples and other ways of life will contribute to a better understanding between peoples. I'm proud to be a librarian."

Luella (Becky) Pollock, former college librarian at Reed College, Portland, Oregon, died March 17. Pollock directed the Reed Library from 1957 until her retirement in 1987. She also held positions at the University of Iowa (1942–1945) and Vassar College (1945–1957). She planned and directed a 1962 addition to the Reed Library and was responsible for much of the planning for the 1989 addition. The library room that houses a browsing collection of new books and recent newspapers and periodicals is named in her honor.

Advertiser index

American Library Assn. 324
American Psychological cover 2
AMIGOS 308
Ballen 319
Blackwell 312
Cambridge Scientific 305
EBSCO cover 4
Gaylord 336
Haworth 316
K.G. Saur cover 3
Sociological Abstracts 327
H.W. Wilson 325