Internet resources in the visual arts

By Martin R. Kalfatovic

Visiting museums and galleries has never been so easy

The explosion of the World Wide Web in the past year has been a boon for the visual arts. The Web's ability to merge text, images, and inventive graphic design has attracted artists, museums, and galleries unlike the Internet's now poor cousin, gopher. The ability of the Web to show as well as tell means that most of the resources listed below will be Web sites. Also, be forewarned that a few sites sacrifice accessibility (e.g., text-mode access) in favor of design.

Indexes and general resources

Listed below are a number of good starting points for exploring the visual arts on the Internet.

- Archives of American Art (Smithsonian Institution). Provides bibliographic access to the manuscript and archives collections of American artists, galleries, and museums. Most of the collections are available on microfilm. Access: telnet://siris.si.edu, select "Archives."

- Artsource. A thorough and well-organized index to art resources. Access: http://www.uky.edu/Artsource/general.html.

- FineArt Forum. A comprehensive guide to art resources. Particularly good information about online journals. Access: http://www.msstate.edu/Fineart_Online/art-resources.

- Inventory of American Painting and Sculpture. Database of more than 300,000 paintings and sculptures by American artists. Searchable by creator, title, subject, and other access points. A project of the Smithsonian's National Museum of American Art. Access: telnet://siris.si.edu, select "Art Inventories."

- WebMuseum Network. The ultimate "virtual" museum on the Internet. A compendium of artists' biographies (from Fra Angelico to Francis Bacon) with numerous examples of their work. Selected "exhibitions" are also available. Mirrored at numerous sites around the world. Access: http://sunsite.unc.edu/wm/.

- World Wide Arts Resources. This includes more than 9,000 categorized art resources. A unique aspect of this site is that it has a section on artworks for sale. Access to the site is by either an efficient search engine or regional guides. Access: http://www.concourse.com/wwar/defaultnew.html.

- Yahoo's Arts:Museums. A hierarchical subject-oriented guide for Internet resources. The "Arts:Museums" section includes a wide

Martin R. Kalfatovic is the information access coordinator for Smithsonian Institution Libraries, Washington, D.C.; e-mail: mkalfato@sil.si.edu

Artists and artistic movements

- Christo and Jeanne-Claude. Dedicated to the work of Christo and Jeanne-Claude, this includes the “Wrapped Reichstag” project, as well as images from earlier projects including “Running Fence” and “The Umbrellas.” Access: http://www.nbn.com/youcan/christo.

- Find Arts. Includes links to many individual artists’ homepages. Access: http://www.find-arts.com/.

- Fluxus Online. Information about this ongoing avant-garde movement. Performance art is covered, as well as specific artists such as Joseph Beuys and Yoko Ono. Access: http://anansi.panic.com/fluxus.

Online exhibitions

Online exhibitions by individual artists have proliferated on the Internet. Many individual artist have seen the Internet as a way around the gallery system. Listed below are some of the major sites devoted to individual artists.

- äda 'web. This is an interactive art space featuring the work of a number of New York City artists. Includes a fascinating Webbed version of conceptual artist Jenny Holzer’s “Truisms.” Note: this site is accessible only with the Netscape browser. Access: http://adaweb.com.

- Art-Link. Based in Canada, this site features works by Canadian and other artists. Access: http://www.niagara.com/artlink.

- The Blue Dot. This site includes online exhibitions and art experiences from New York City artists. Access: http://www.razorfish.com/bluedot.

Museums

Museums have flocked to the Internet. Large museum complexes such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Smithsonian Institution have significant presences, but smaller museums (the Huntsville Museum of Art and the Montreal Museum of Fine Art, for example) are also available. University museums and galleries in particular have taken advantage of campus Internet expertise to put themselves on the Internet.

- Art Institute of Chicago. A unique site that includes information about both the museum and its associated art school. Access: http://www.artic.edu.

- Art Tower Mito. Japan’s premier venue for contemporary art. Access: http://www.soum.co.jp/mito/art-e.html.

- Dia Center for the Arts. This contemporary arts organization’s site maintains a wealth of information about the Center and contemporary art. Includes online exhibitions and a special Web project by the idiosyncratic artists Komar & Melamid. Access: http://www.diacenter.org.

- Heard Museum. This Phoenix museum has a large collection of Native American art that is well presented on the Web. Access: http://www.heard.org.

- Metropolitan Museum of Art. This site offers information about the collections and current exhibitions. Provides an excellent guide to the museum’s shop and allows the user to order items. Access: http://www.metmuseum.org.

Commercial galleries and auction houses

Only a small number of the major commercial art galleries have an Internet presence. However, numerous smaller galleries around the world have seen the Internet as a good place to promote their business. See World Wide Arts Resources (listed above) for a very complete listing of commercial arts resources.

Pace Wildenstein. The site for this major commercial gallery is a rich resource for biographical information about artists represented by Pace Wildenstein (e.g., Mark Rothko, Ad Reinhardt, etc.). Also includes images of the artists' works and information about the New York City and Los Angeles locations. Access: http://www.razorfish.com/pace.

Sandra Gering. This New York City gallery's site provides information about the gallery and intriguing, inventive online exhibitions. Access: http://www.interport.net/~gering.

Sotheby's. Provides a much glitzier interface than arch-rival Christie's. Content is not, however, sacrificed to presentation. Forthcoming auctions, a history of the firm, and auction results available in Adobe Acrobat PDF format are all included. "Auction Adventures," three interactive explorations of the auction process, are interesting and informative. Access: http://www.sothebys.com.

Organizations and associations

Electronic journals

The evolution of a classic.

You've trusted Britannica for years, and as the information needs of schools and libraries have changed, so have we. Britannica Online – the first encyclopedia on the Internet – is already used by more than one and a half million students at hundreds of the most prestigious universities in the world. And now it's available to answer your questions in your library, anytime. It's fast, it's convenient, and because it's Britannica, it's the right answer!

For a free two-week preview of Britannica Online, call 1-800-554-9862 or visit http://www.eb.com today.

Britannica Online

From the editors of ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA.

© 1996 Encyclopædia Britannica, Inc.
• Communications Arts. Online version of the magazine for designers, illustrators, and art directors. Access: http://www.commarts.com.

• Journal of Contemporary Art. Coverage of the contemporary art scene, including interviews with leading artists. Note: for graphical Web browsers only. Access: http://www.thing.net/jca/.

• Maine Antique Digest. Online version of the venerable monthly newspaper. Contains both articles and, importantly, the display ads. Access: http://www.maine.com/mad/.

• Studio Space. An online magazine dedicated to the arts of the Seattle area. Access: http://www.uspan.com/Studio.

Discussion lists and newsgroups

- AMART-L. Moderated discussion list for scholars of American art. Subscribe: listserv@cunyvm.cuny.edu.

- ARLIS-L. Official discussion list of the Art Libraries Society of North America. Dedicated to issues related to art libraries. Subscribe: listserv@ukcc.uky.edu.

- ARLIS-NE. Official discussion group of the New England chapter of ARLIS. Subscribe: listserv@mitvma.mit.edu.

- ARLISWYN-L. Official discussion group of the New York chapter of ARLIS. Subscribe: listproc@cornell.edu.

- ARTCRIT. Forum for general discussion of art criticism. Subscribe: listserv@yorkvm1.bitnet.

- ARTIST-L. Serves the needs of student artists. Subscribe: listserv@uafsysb.uark.edu.

- ArtNEWS. Daily headlines in the print media’s coverage of the art world. Subscribe: artnews-request@arttrak.metronet.com.

- CAAH. Consortium of Art and Architectural Historians. Subscribe: listserv@pucc.princeton.edu.

- CLAYART. For the discussion of all aspects of fine art ceramics. Subscribe: listserv@ukcc.uky.edu.

- DESIGN-L. Discussion on basic and applied design in art and architecture. Subscribe: listserv@psuvm.psu.edu.

- FINE-ART. Major list for the discussion of the fine arts. Subscribe: listserv@rutvml.rutgers.edu.

- ALAA. Discussion group for the Association of Latin American Art. Subscribe: listserv@listserv.arizona.edu.

- MEDART-L. Discussions on Medieval art history. Subscribe: listserv@utoronto.bitnet.

- PAINT-L. "For painters to discuss all aspects of their art including technical and aesthetic issues." Subscribe: majordomo@charlie.koe.edu.

- TEACHART. Serves the art teacher’s community. Subscribe: listserv@listserv.sivm.si.edu.

Usenet groups

Only a small number of Usenet groups are available in the fine arts. The alt.binaries.pictures hierarchy contains a group for artists to post examples of their work.

- alt.art.colleges. Low-volume group about art colleges.

- alt.artcom. The lively discussion in this group covers a wide range of topics including media and current exhibitions. Individual artists also post announcements of their Web pages.

- alt.binaries.pictures.fine-art-digitize. This group provides a forum for artists to distribute reproductions of paintings, drawings, prints, etc. Images are posted in a variety of graphic formats (JPEG, GIF, etc.). This moderated group does not have a high volume of submissions.

- rec.arts.fine. The major list for the discussion of fine arts. Includes technical discussion about media, art history, and social issues in art (e.g., AIDS). ■

ULS 1996 ballot notice

An error has been discovered on the ACRL University Libraries Section (ULS) spring 1996 ballot. We are asking ULS members to disregard the bylaws amendment portion of the ballot (#01 and #02). Each of the three amendments to the bylaws must be voted on separately. The current ULS ballot does not give you that opportunity. The ULS membership will vote on the amendments at its annual membership meeting during the ALA Annual Conference in New York, Sunday, July 7, 1996, 4:30–5:00 p.m.